ACQUIT JEROME OF GAMBLING CHARGE

Court Apologizes for Humiliation Caused the Defendant.

THAW PLEASED WITH VERDICT

Magistrate Mulvena Honorably Discharges Thaw's Nemesis—Jerome Thanks the Court and Praises Canada.

Coaticook, Que., Sept. 8.—William Travers Jerome was acquitted tonight on the charge of having gambled on Thursday last on the station property of the Grand Trunk Railway here, while waiting for the immigration authorities to pass on the case of Harry K. Thaw. In discharging him the court apologized for the humiliation to which he had been subjected.

A country lawyer, Joseph Beaulne, and an 80-year-old justice of the peace, James McKee, so mixed up the hearing in the case against Jerome this afternoon that District Magistrate Henry Mulvena, who had come here from Sherbrooke by automobile 23 miles for the purpose, refused to preside, and adjournment was taken until tonight. For 45 minutes counsel wrangled and hurled suggestions of crooked work. Jerome smiled, the crowd in the court room alternately stamped and hissed and Magistrate Mulvena declared he had been brought here under false pretenses.

Jerome had come to Coaticook from Montreal on an unedrstanding that his case, set for hearing on Thursday, September 11th, had been advanced to today, and that the justice of the peace, McKee, who signed the original complaint, had agreed that Magistrate Mulvena should preside.

Accompanying Jerome was Samuel Jacobs, one of the most eminent lawyers of the Dominion, who had been retained by the State of New York in the Thaw case. When the crowd jammed its way into the little court room about 4:30 o'clock neither side was able to produce any formal statement from Justice McKee that he had authorized Magistrate Mulvena to sit, the complainant, Milford Aldrich, could not be found, and John Andrews, the constable who arrested Jerome, was missing.

Complications arose as soon as Magistrate Mulvena asked whether Justice McKee had formally authorized the magistrate to preside.

"No, not formally," said A. C. Hanson, joint prosecutor, "last night he said he would; today he said he would not."

Here Bellene arose: "This case cannot proceed," he said emphatically. "I represent the complainant, Aldrich, and he is not here. I also represent justice and the criminal code."

Attorney Jacobs, for Jerome, urged that the trial should proceed and demanded that the missing constable and complainant be held in contempt of court.

"That cannot be done," replied Magistrate Mulvena, "for the court is not sitting."

As Beaulne and Hanson could not agree as to who was in charge for the prosecution the magistrate adjourned the hearing until 7 o'clock, urging the lawyers to settle their differences in the meantime.

Jerome Thanks the Court.

The hearing before Magistrate Henry Mulvena, of Sherbrooke, lasted less than an hour. It began at 7:35 o'clock and at 8:20 the court said: "Sir, you are honorably discharged."

When acquitted, Mr. Jerome thanked the court, spoke flatteringly of his reception in Canada, and added that he did not attribute his arrest and brief imprisonment last week to the thinking people of the Dominion. He took a late train from Coaticook tonight in order to be in New York Tuesday, and will return to Montreal for the arguments on the latest Thaw habeas corpus writ to be held before the King's bench at Montreal September 15th.

Court Room Crowded.

Townspeople packed the court room when the hearing was opened tonight. Jerome looked straight at the court, and did not once glance at the throng which in looks, grimace and subdued remarks was plainly hostile.

A. C. Hanson, joint crown prosecutor, opened the case with the reading of the complaint of Milford Aldrich, a mill hand, who swore he had seen the defendant playing cards for money at the railway station. Statutes were quoted to show that this was an indictable offense plnishable with a year's imprisonment.

Samuel Jacobs, of Montreal, who was been retained by New York State in its egorts to return Thaw to Matteawan, contended that the statute applied only to gambling on a public conveyance proper. The court took this question under advisement and called for witnesses.

Michael Knight, white haired, aged 65, leaning on a black thorn stick, took the stand. He had seen the defendant playing "a little game of draw" in the station yard, he said. The defendant had been pointed out to him as Jerome, of New York.

"Did you see him win any money" asked the joint prosecutor.

"I saw a bill changed," answered the witness. "I could not say who won it."

The cross examination conducted by Mr. Jacobs was very short.

"Why did you stop to watch the game?" he asked.

"Because it was in an automobile, and a man in front had a little typewriter in his lap a-writing and I was interested."

This was a New York newspaper man writing his story under difficulties.

Fred Chesley, a younger man than Knight, testified on direct examina-

CHAIRMAN WALTERS TESTIFIES

Coast Line Official Tells of Sale of Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley to His Road and the Southern—Hearing Continued

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 8.—Chairman Harry Walters, of the board of directors of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co., was the first witness examined today before the Corporation Commission in the investigation by the commission into the receivership sale of the old Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad and its partition between the Atlantic Coast Line and the Southern, the examination being under a special resolution of the last Legislature, gotten through by Representative Woodus Kellum, of New Hanover.

The purpose of the investigation is to get at all the facts bearing on the partition of the road by the Southern and Atlantic Coast Line and have the attorney general examine this for any grounds to proceed against the two companies for either violation of the State laws or the Federal anti-trust law.

Railroad Men Present

Here for the hearing begun this morning were Chairman Walters, Michael Jenkins, of Baltimore, also of the Atlantic Coast Line board of directors; Alexander Hamilton, vice president and general counsel for the Atlantic Coast Line; George Elliott, assistant general counsel of the Coast Line, and General Counsel A. P. Thom, of the Southern.

Sale of Road at Auction

Mr. Walters' testimony was a general review of the receivership of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley and of agreement between himself and President Spencer, of the Southern, for Mr. Walters to attend the sale and bid as high as $3,000,000 for the road without any definite understanding except that there should be some equitable division of the road between the two big railroad corporations. He said Mr. Spencer also attended the sale, that he Walters) bid as high as $3,000,000, and some on bettered his bid to his consternation; that while he was conferring with Mr. Elliott, of the Coast Line, Spencer made a bid. Then he bid again for the Coast Line, not understanding Spencer's action. Spencer bid again and then Walters bid again. About that time Spencer passed over to where he stood and said, "I suppose your bid is for both of us," and Walters replied, "It is." He testified that the Coast Line was seeking solely to conserve the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley road business that the Coast Line had for a long time enjoyed and could ill-afford to lose.

Price Was $3,125,000

The purchase price was $3,125,000. He considers the Fayetteville-Bennettsville branch of the A. & Y. (old C. F. & Y. V.) as much the best section of the property and the Fayetteville-Wilmington division as the least desirable from the viewpoint of railroad business. He expressed the view that it was the building of this division that really landed the old corporation in receivership.

Mr. Walters was examined by A. L. Brooks, of Greensboro, who worked especially for the passage of the resolution for investigation in the last Legislature. Asked by Mr. Brooks if he would be willing to accept service by a North Carolina court, being a non-resident, in the event there should be litigation involving the partition of the road, Mr. Walters replied that he would, the understanding being that the State courts could not take exclusive jurisdiction.

Act Not "Rushed Through"

Mr. Walters was asked about the passage of the act by the 1899 Legis-

FINAL TARIFF WAR NOW ON IN SENATE

Democrats Stood Solid Last Night Against Onslought of Minority

VOTE TODAY AT FOUR O'CLOCK

Senators Agreed to Adjourn at Late Hour Last Night and Will Continue Fight on Underwood-Simmons Measure

Washington, Sept. 8.—The Senate will vote finally on the Democratic tariff bill tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. This agreement was reached tonight at 11:45 o'clock when it became apparent that it would be impossible to pass the measure before adjournment tonight.

The party leaders agreed to keep the Senate in session well into the morning to dispose of as many of the amendments still pending as possible and then to adjourn until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Democratic lines stood solidly tonight against final onslaught of the opposition in the tariff fight. With party leaders urging their colleagues on to approval of the bill, the ranks closed up against the anti-free wool and anti-free sugar forces and defeated all amendments to the bill as fast as they came to the vote.

Attempts to restore to the bill a duty on raw wool, and to raise the duty on woolen manufactured goods made in successive amendments by Senators LaFollette, Catron and Penrose were defeated without the loss of a party vote.

A last stand by the anti-free sugar forces led by Senator Ransdell, of Louisiana, Democrat, held the attention of the Senate throughout the evening, but the votes of Senators Ransdell and Thornton had been long conceded to the Republicans on the sugar issue.

Repeated efforts were made to secure a general agreement for a final vote on the bill at some definite hour tomorrow afternoon.

Democratic leaders were willing to adjourn at midnight if such an agreement could be reached, but while negotiations were under way they insisted the Senate should remain at work with the prospect of an all-night session if the attempt at the agreement failed.

Among the amendments defeated was that of Senator Norros' for a heavy tax on inheritances. This was beaten 58 to 12.

Two attempts by LaFollette to secure the adoption of substitutes for the Democratic wool tariff schedule failed by strict party votes. There remained the prospect of a final wool fight when the single item of free wool was reached in the free list of the bill.

Senator Ransdell in beginning his fight abainst free sugar announced he opposed free wool also and would join in any attempt to have a small duty put on that product.

Senator Stone questioned Senator Ransdell's right to ignore the agreement reached by the Democratic caucus to support the bill. Senator Ransdell insisted he had reserved the right to vote as he pleased on any section of the tariff bill.

With the hope of passing the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill before anothe rsunrise, the Senate settled down to a night session after working away on the measure throughout today. Democratic leaders had done their utmost to suppress general speeches and force progress, and before the evening session was well under way voting on the final important amendments had begun.

The first hint of the final fight over free raw wool came late this afternoon when Senator LaFollette introduced a general substitute for the wool tariff sections of the Underwood-Simmons bill. An inheritance tax amendment offered by Senator Norris, was pending at the time, and debate alternated between the subjects for several hours.

The LaFollette wool plan came as a surprise to the Democratic side. Instead of the expected 15 per cent duty on raw wool after January 1st, next, his substitute proposed a general cut of the wool rates based on a 30 per cent. raw wool duty for 1914; a 25 per cent. duty for 1915, and a 15 per cent. duty after January 1st, 1916.

When Senator LaFollette concluded, Senator Stone, in charge of the wool sections of the bill, urged Democrats to refrain from debate. He said the subject had been thoroughly covered before; that Senator LaFollette had refrained from offering his amendment when the wool issue was being discussed, and that the tariff bill's passage should not be delayed by the re-opening of the wool fight.

When the vote came at the night session, the substitute was defeated 41 to 28, and immediately afterward Senator LaFollette offered another amendment to fix a straight 15 per cent duty on wool, and this was promptly voted down 39 to 29. The Penrose wool substitute was defeated viva voce.

The discussion of Senator Norris' inheritance tax amendment during the early part of the day brought strong condemnation from him and from other Senators, of the alleged laxity with which the taxation and revenue laws deal with large fortunes and large incomes. Senator Clapp, of Minnesota, declared the people should prevent the accummulation of enormous fortunes rather than devise means of curbing them later.

"I believe that Mr. Carnegie," said the Senator, "in doling out pittances for libraries to communities in this country that come to him almost on bended knees supplicating such aid, has done much to stay American

HUERTA IS PAYING FARE OF AMERICANS

Furnishes First Class Passage to Those Who Accept His Offer

PROTESTS AGAINST CONSUL

Mexican Administration Making Good Promise of Provisional President to Aid Refugees—Protection Assured

Vera Cruz, Sept. 8.—When the steamer Tamaulipas sails tomorrow morning for New Orleans there will be aboard a few Americans, part of whose passage has been paid by the Mexican government.

If other Americans wishing to leave the country, whether destitute or not, apply to the local authorities, they are promised first-class transportation to any American port to which they may wish to go.

Until today there had been received at Vera Cruz no intimation that President Huerta expected to fulfill the offer made by the government to Americans last week, but such instructions to the port authorities followed a request telegraphed to Mexico City yesterday by a group of Americans who were dissatisfied with the accommodations Consul Canada was able to supply.

After a favorable answer had come from the capital some of those who signed the petition refused to accept assistance on the grounds that as Americans they did not feel like accepting charity from the Mexican government.

The latest advices from the State Department to Consul Canada are not regarded at the consulate as altering materially the previous instructions, and most of transportation provided will continue to be second-class or steerage. The American consulate has been the cetter of protests on the part of indignant refugees who seem determined to leave the country at the expense of the United States, and first-class at that.

Under his discretionary power he has been providing sick women with better accommodations, but no one else. If an applicant for free passage admits having in possession sufficient money he receives no aid. Among the applicants it is not uncommon to find those known to be well-to-do and in a few instances wealthy.

The difficulties of obtaining first-class transportation have greatly checked the rush out of the republic. The number of Americans here still is large. There are only 30 on the Tamaulipas whose passage has been paid by the United States. John Lind, President Wilson's representative, is not inclined to think that General Huerta's persistence in his plan to finance American refugees will be resented at Washington. Acting under instructions from the American capital he and Mrs. Lind continue their sight-seeing.

An American, W. J. Stickles, on arriving here with his family, asked the consul for transportation to the United States. Consul Canada offered first-class passage to New Orleans on the steamer Tamaulipas for the women, but only third-class for the men.

Mr. Sickles refused to accept this and sent a telegram to General Huerta accepting the offer of his government Senor Gamboa, minister of foreign affairs, immediately instructed the collector of customs to issue first-class passage to Mr. Sickles and his family to their home town.

The Tamaulipas will take a large number of refugees to New Orleans. Many of these are farmers from the Oaxaca district, who leave behind their small properties now deserted. They were offered full protection by the Mexican authorities if there was room, but they thought it advisable to obey their government's instructions.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Negro Who Criminally Assaulted a White Girl Given Penalty.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 8.—Lee Archer, the negro charged with criminally assaulting Miss Cora Whitehurst, 19 years old, daughter of Henry Tom Whitehurst, a farmer of Bayside Princess Anne on September 2nd, was convicted late today and given the extreme penalty of death.

Wanted Son to Be Natural Born American.

MRS HERMAN H. HARJES.

New York, Sept. 8.—Their friends are lauding the patriotism of Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Harjes, who came across the Atlantic ocean from Paris that their son might be born on American soil, and thus be recognized as a nathral born citizen of the United States. The mother of the latest addition to the Harjes family is an American by birth. She was Miss Frederica Berwind, of Philadelphia. Bst Mr. Harjes, who is a member of the Paris branch of the Morgan banking system, was born in France of American parents and was forced to become natrralized before he could become an American citizen. The parents didn't want this to be the experience of their second child, and as the date for the birth of the child drew near, the young patriots determined that it should be born on American soil. So they sailed on the Kronprinzessin Cecile and arrived in New York just six hours before Mr. Harjes was informed by the nurse that it was a boy. Mother and son are doing very well, thank yor, at the St. Regis Hotel, here.

JAP WANTS WAR WITH CHINA

Great Agitation Over Killing of Japanese at Nanking by Chinese. China Apologizes and Wants Peaceful Adjustment.

Tokio, Sept. 8.—Anarchistic expression in connection with the gitation over the killing of the Japanese at Nanking led to the suppression today of the Niroku Shimbun, an independent newspaper. The journal asserted that the punishment of the spies of Yuan Shi Kai, the Chinese President, had just commenced, that the murder of Director Abe, of the Japanese office, was a "heavenly judgment" and that other assassinations would follow.

The members of the Japanese Cabinet are being constantly protected by detectives.

The police arrested the ring leaders of the mobs, which were assembling to hold another mass meeting here today, and the meeting was not held. Premier Yamamoto received the organizers of yesterday's meetings and informed them that there was no necessity of sending armed forces to China at present.

According to another version the premier declared that the sending of troops to China might bring about the partition of that country by the powers.

Rumors Unsubstantiated.

This city is filled with unsubstantiated rumors that the occupation of Chinese territory is impending. Gen. Viscount Yoshishmichi Haseagawa, chief of the general staff, and Gen. Viscount Kageaki Wawamura, commander of the Tokio garrison, conferred today with Emperor Yoshihito at Nikki.

The Chinese government has apologized to Japan for the murder of several Japanese at Nanking, and has ordered an investigation. The Chinese note voiced the desire that a peaceful solution of the affair be reached through diplomatic channels.

Chinese Government Concerned.

Peking, Sept. 8.—The Chinese government is much concerned over the agitation in Japan in connection with the killing of several Japanese during the fighting at Nanking, and desiring to make reparation, has instructed the Chinese charge d'affaires at Tokio to express regrets to the Japanese foreign office. All Three After Western Marshalship. Senator Overman Hasn't Said Who Will Get It — Civil Service Examinations.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—Manly McDowell has nothing to fear from Sam Rogers, of Franklin, in his candidacy for United States marshal for the Western district, but McDowell's friends must get out and hustle in order to defeat the effort being made by friends of Charles A. Webb, of Asheville, to secure that office for him, according to R. T. Claywell, of Morganton, who held a conference with Senator Overman today in behalf of McDowell, his fellow townsman.

"We are in no way uneasy regarding McDowell's chances," said Claywell. "But since Webb got actively in the field for the marshalship, we might as well make an effort to get better endorsements for McDowell in Webb's own district and county, which we have done."

Mr. Claywell will remain in Washington and see Senator Overman again tomorrow, to try to secure assurance that he will appoint McDowell.

C. W. Worth, of Wilmington, who is a candidate for consul general to Shanghai, called on the Senators today.

Joseph C. Mason was today appointed post master at Lukens, Carteret county.

Civil service examinations for civil service positions in various departments of the United States Government at Washington will be held for Eastern North Carolina at Wilmington, Goldsboro, Newbern and Raleigh, on Monday, the 15th of September, at the government buildings of these respective cities.

All those who desire such positions should write at once to the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., for applications to stand these examinations, and other necessary instructions and requirements. Also write to the Congressman for Manual of Examinations and other necessary information.

There will no doubt be a good many changes, after a thorough investigation of the civil service conditions now being held in Washington. North Carolina has never had its full quota of positions under civil service regulations, and, therefore, there should be more positions coming to the State.

This will be a good chance for bright young men and young women, who wish to enter the service of the United States government.

COAL MINE STRIKE RESULT OF GREED

Bishop Donahue Blames Both the Operators and Miners

REPORTS TO INVESTIGATORS

Eminent Churchman Tells Senate Probe Committee of Conditions in Mining Regions of West Virginia.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Greed of the coal operators, as well as the miners, Bishop J. P. Donahue, of the Catholic Church, told the Senate Investigating committee today, was the fundamental cause of the Western Virginia strike. Exorbitant prices in company stores from 15 to 25 per cent. in advance of the market, he gave as one instance on the part of present operators.

The Bishop was on a commission which investigated conditions in Paint and Cabin creeks. He was agreeably surprised by the living conditions of the miners.

"Of course we found no Turkish rugs, but we did find fairly comfortable workingmen's homes," said the prelate.

"Were the men contented?" asked Senator Kenyon.

"I can best answer in the words of witness Griffith, who said the men would not be satisfied until they owned the mines."

Cause of the Disturbances.

Coming to the cause of the strike, the Bishop quoted a line from the Psalms: "The rich man flaunts his wealth, and sets the poor's man on fire," and declared it applied to the situation in West Virginia. He added that infidelity had been taught to the miners; that they had been taught that the saying "Poor we have with us always" was a farce, and that the miners had just as much a right to automobiles, and to live in Kanawha street as the coal operators.

Senator Borah contended that if laboring men were not ambitious, they would become industrial slaves.

"Ah, but not so, if property owners are not filled with greed," returned the Bishop. "I believe men should hold property not as their own, but as trustees for others, and that trusteeship should be shown by acts."

Attorney Monnett, also for the miners, asked if the Bishop thought gatling guns, armored cars and bloodhounds were some of the things that set the souls of the miners on fire.

The Bishop responded that he considered the use of these weapons best governed by the common law which allowed the use of guns when the user was "backed to the wall."

The Bishop denied having come to Washington at the request of the coal operators to protest against former Immigration Commissioner O'Keefe stopping immigrants going to West Virginia mines because the mines were not unionized. The Bishop declared he came on his own voliiton. He said the immigrants were possibly Catholics, but "they were not working at it hard."

"Well, they pay up, and that is what you want?" suggested the attorney.

"Oh, paying money does not make a man religious. He must go to church and live his religion. Take away a man's religion, and you make him little more than an animal. Get some of these horrible ideas of infidelity and doubt and socialism worked out of the miners' minds, much as you work beer out at Carlsbad, and nurture a wholesome religious review of life, and conditions will be better."

Mathewson-Plank To Renew Feud

New York, Sept. 8.—Since the National Commission has seen fit to set at this early day the opening date of the world's series it is in order to remark that pitchers may be Christopher Mathewson for the Giants, and Eddie Plank for the Athletics.

It will be a sort of continuation of their long-standing feud. "Matty" has been pitching about the same number of years as Connie's star and both are going great now.

Back in 1905, when they were both comparatively youngsters, they began their battle and they continued it in 1911, but the result was satisfactory to neither Plank nor to Mathewson.

They are regarded as the mainstays of their teams. Therefore about them are built the prospects of the expected clash between the Athletics and the Giants. They both will be primed for the struggle.

"Matty" is going to be better than he has been in some time. Plank's breaks and shoots are still puzzling good batters. Under such conditions it is but logical to expect that it will be a battle royal between them when they meet on the field in the opening clash of the biggest event in baseball, provided, of course, their respective teams win the honor to support the standards of the National and American leagues.

"Matty" has been pitted against the Athletics before and his teammates have already predicted that he will have them so sized up by the time the contest comes there will be nothing to it but "Matty" and the Giants. But this is purely a New York viewpoint. Is there any reason to believe that Plank will not have just as much of an edge on the Giants?

He has pitched against New York before and he knows how to use his head; therefore, why should he not know when a batter likes a curve and when he likes a fast one and when he likes 'em on the side and when he'd rather have them outside, also high and low?

office here already has expressed regrets to the Japanese legation.

General in command at Nanking has sent a message of sympathy to the Japanese consul general, and has offered to compensate the families of the victims. The newly appointed Chinese minister at Tokio has been ordered to Nanking to conduct a full inquiry.

Three weeks ago, fearing the possibility of untoward incidents, thhe Chinese government urged the Japanese legation to withdraw its nationals from Nanking, and only a few days ago the Japanese legation notified the Chinese foreign office that eight Japanese officers who had served the Southern guns had been returned to Japan.

Major Gen. Shiba, who was commissioned by the Japanese government to investigate the matter, admits in a published report that Japan officers and soldiers without their government's consent acted as local commanders among the Southerners.

ATLANTA SOUTHERN CHAMPS

New Orleans Won Final from Mobile, Giving Crackers a Lead of Half a Game—The Teams Evenly Matched

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 8.—Atlanta has won the pennant for the Southern Association's 1913 season, which closed yesterday. This was decided when New Orleans broke the Mobile-Atlanta tie by winning from Mobile, 5 to 2. The loss of the game meant the loss of the race by half a game, Atlanta having won 81 games and lost 56, while Mobile was credited with 81 victories and 57 defeats.

Birmingham finished third. Hard and determined fighting by Chattanooga landed that team in fourth place. In the second division Montgomery led, with Memphis, Nashville and New Orleans next in order.

The final week of the 1913 season was the most exciting in the history of the Southern Association. Atlanta, continuing a spirited dash for the wire, opened the week by taking two games from New Orleans. Then came the series with Mobile, in which Atlanta defeated the league leaders three times, tieing the fourth contest and the race for the flag. On Saturday both Atlanta and Mobile won, the tie remaining unbroken.

A month ago Atlanta stood fourth in the race, making the performance of that club all the more astonishing. Of the last 23 games played, Atlanta won 20, lost two and tied one. Misfortune played its part in contributing to the defeat of Mobile, a series of accidents having crippled the team.

With the closing of the season a number of important changes in the personal of the league officials have been announced. Of these the most interesting is the signing of Norman Elberfield, whose contract as manager of the Chattanooga club expired yesterday, as leader of the New Orleans club. Manager John Dobbs, of Montgomery, has announced that he will not lead that team in 1914, it being reported he will head the Memphis club.

Manager Billy Smith, who, in one season, elevated Atlanta from last place to the top of the column, has been presented with an additional year's contract, lasting through the season of 1915.

Three members of the Mobile club, who have been taking the center of the stage in the Gulls' hard pennant fight, belong to the New York Giants, having been farmed out by the Giants to get the necessary experience to get on the job with the Giants. They are Stock, shortstop; Robertson, centerfielder, and Paulet, first base. They will report at the Giants' training camp next Spring for active service, under the Giant banner.

Robertson, who has been covering acres of ground in center, will be remembered as an old University of North Carolina player, and is a native Tar Heel boy. As North Carolinians who venture into the nation's game have a habit of making good, Tar Heel fans will watch for him to make his mark under the big lights, along with Joe Jackson, George Suggs and others.

AWARD OF TROPHIES

In Fifth Sonder Yacht Race of German-American Series

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 8.—The fifth sonder yacht race in the German-American series from which the Germans have been eliminated, today failed to settle the award of the principal trophies for the Cima, owned by Guy Lowell, of Boston, captured another fluky, drifting contest, and tied the Ellen, owned by C. P. Curtis, in the struggle for the President Wilson cup. The two yachts with two wins each will sail the sixth and last race tomorrow, and the loser will receive the second prize, the Governor Foss trophy.

The German yachtsmen whose boats were eliminated in Saturday's contests, will be on hand for the finals tomorrow and for presentation dinner at night, when Governor Foss will hand over the jewel case which bears his name. The entire party will go to Washington Wednesday to witness the delivery of the big cup by President Wilson in the parlors of the White House on Thursday.

WASHINGTON DROPPED FINAL TO CHANCE'S LOWLY YANKEES

Ray Caldwell Unhittable By Griff's Heavy Batters

NAPS TOOK SUNDAY'S GAME

Schedule Next Seven Days Furnishes Interesting Possibility of Naps Leading the League—Country-wide Interest

Ray Caldwell, the biggest, brightest and best of the New York Yankee twirling stars, was unhittable in yesterday's game at Washington, and the lowly Chancemen shutout the Washington Senators by a four to nothing score. The game marked the last appearance of the season for the Yanks on the Senatorial diamond. Clarke Griffith took the opportunity of inserting three of his recruits into the game, Love, an Atlanta, Ga., recruit, pitching the last inning and held the New Yorkers scoreless.

Terry Turner was the Mountain Detroit could not surmount Sunday, and Cleveland downed the Tigers, six to four in the final game of the series at Detroit. Leaping into the air, going down into the dirt, to his left and behind the bag, the "cotton-topped" third baseman of the visitors broke up four Detroit rallies, knocked in one run, scored two himself, and pounded out a double and a single.

The American circuit doings should furnish interesting reading for the next seven days, for although you probably would not find a man willing to wager more than one cent to a hundred dollars, there is a possibility of the Cleveland Naps taking first place within the next seven days—and more wonderful things have happened in baseball.

The Naps start a four-game series at Washington today, and the Chicago White Sox a four-day stay at Philadelphia. After this the Naps go to Philadelphia for their farewell visit of three days' duration. Should the fates so decree that the Athletics, by some unforseen slump, lose the entire series to Chicago and the Naps win the four straights from the Washington Senators, and then take the three games scheduled with the leaders, the Naps would lead the league by a margin of five points. What odds do you offer?

Yanks Again

Washington, Sept. 8.—Caldwell was unhittable today and the New Yorkers shutout Washington 4 to 0 on their last appearance here of the season. Three of Washington's recruits got into the game today. Spencer, an outfielder from Petersburg, Va., was in leftfield; Morley, an infielder from Hartford, Conn., played second, and Love, from Atlanta, Ga., pitched the last inning, holding New York scoreless.

Syracuse, N. This time also equalled the season record for the fastest heat made by a pacer, held by Braden Direct and Earl Jr.

The KaNoo-Noo stake for three-year-old trotters 2:24 class, was won by George Rex after he lost the first heat to Tuna Z.

The 2:16 trot proved easy for Dr. Thorn. The 2:14 pace went to Zanzibar in straight heats.

Peerless Leader Roasts His Flock

New York, Sept. 8.—"Don't think for a minute I talk this way to protect myself because we're last," says Frank Chance, manager of the New York Americans. "I didn't believe such a bunch of dummies could be assembled on one club until I joined the Yankees. They didn't know the first principles of baseball. Not only that, they didn't try. In the club house, when we were losing in the Spring, everybody laughed, whistled and told funny stories.

"That doesn't win ball games. Baseball is serious, if you want to get on top. The Cubs were on top because the boys had one thought—baseball and to win. They figured out plays before each game how to fool the enemy. It was nothing but baseball with them.

"Of course, now, a smart manager can get everything out of a player. He must study his boys, see how he is going to direct them.

"But if you haven't the class you can't squeeze water out of a rock, and if you haven't the class you're not going to win."

JUDGE CONNOR'S WORK

First Term for New Jurist Brings Congratulations—Tobacco Sales

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., Sept. 8.—With the closing of the week's terms of the Wilson county Superior Court, Judge George W. Connor, is receiving the congratulations of his home "folks" because of the large amount of business concluded during the week. Notwithstanding the severe storm of Wednesday, which hindered large numbers of witnesses who lived in the country districts, the court disposed of something like 50 cases and reduced a heavy docket considerably. During the week 17 were sent to the county roads and the total of the sentences amounts to 229 months of work. The heaviest sentence was six years and the lightest was 30 days.

Violators of the prohibition laws received a severe "jolt" and the influence will be good.

The tobacco warehouses were compelled to hold sales Saturday, for the first time. The total amount of leaf tobacco sold here Friday and Saturday runs over 750,000 pounds and somethiog over $130,000 was paid out for the bright yellow leaf. The average price paid Friday was 16-1 2 cents.

Notwithstanding reports which have gone out to the contrary Wilson warehouses were able to take care of all tobacco brought here, although it was impossible to sell it all in the one day. Still better preparations have been made for this week.

The Atlantic Christian College, opened this morning, under the management again this year of Dr. J. L. Caldwell and the enrollment is larger than last year. Wilson graded schools opened today and with more pupils than last year.

MORE ECHOES OF THAT STORM

Newspaper Man Tells Graphic Story of the Experience of Ocracoke —Tramp Steamer Ashore Skillful Sailorman

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 8.—A newspaper man who arrived here today from Ocracoke, N. C., tells of the narrow escape of the inhabitants there from drowning by the tide in last week's storm. A southwest wind is that most feared at Ocracoke, while the gale of Wednesday drove straight to the southeast; and whereas the tide from Pamlico Sound is more apt to cause damage to the mile-wide sandkey of the loneliest section of the Carolina coast than that from the ocean, the population of Ocracoke village, numbering more than 500 souls, watched the 100-mile hurricane pass over with not so much fear as was felt on the mainland for their safety.

However, the water was driven from the sea clear over the island, doing considerable damage to small craft anchored near the sound shore to roofs, fences and livestock. The largeset drove of wild horses in the world is on Ocracoke, and most of the pretty little banker ponies are believed to have been saved by taking refuge on the tops of a cluster of hummocks locally known as "The Hammocks."

Tramp Steamer Ashore

Several houses were washed away and in many spots the water was neck deep. A number of members of a Summer colony were on the island, and these witnessed a rare scene when a large tramp steamer, from Liverpool to Savannah for cotton, went ashore directly in front of the village. The ship, with 27 men in the crew, was only a few miles off shore and, with the very ordinary steaming power of that slow type of craft, could not progress in the storm. She was driven steadily ashore and finally was hurled by the enormous breakers high and dry on the beach. She now rests on an even keel, entirely out of the water. Two and a half miles up the beach, a six-master schooner broke in two and her crew was taken off by the men from the lifesaving station at the village.

Engineer Stuck to His Ship

In Pamlico river a dozen large craft and innumerable small boats were lost in the gale, fortunately without the loss of a single life. Most of these foundered at the docks at Washington or were driven high on shore. The vessels had not a chance in the face of the fierce wind. When the crew of the steamer Blade, at Bayside, left her as the boat broke from her moorings and drifted out into the stream, six miles wide there, Engineer John Pilley would not leave her, and his two negro firemen refused to desert him. Finally, when the Blade was driven several hundred feet in shore and was about to go into a cornfield, Engineer Pilley drew the seacocks and sunk the vessel. She will be dredged out. Tugs which beat the gale to harbor arrived only in time to let the crews escape before they were dashed against the docks and sunk in their slips.

At Washington was the finest fleet of speed power boats on the South Atlantic coast. Nearly every one of these was lost in the rushing waters, driven far up into the woods bordering Pamlico and Tar rivers, or up into the streets. One of the fast little vessels came two blocks up into town, was "headed off" and securely moored to a telephone pole. Several tugs sank near the county bridge, a handsome structure with elevated sidewalks and electric lights and used by the people as a promenade at night, which was swept entirely away.

A Daring Sailorman

A little knot of people on a clearing witnessed a splendid bit of seamanship when a tiny schooner, with a solitary man aboard, weathered the storm beyond this bridge while craft ten times her size were going down all around. The lone sailor got a single sail onto the little ship after it had been driven miles up stream under bare poles. He was just in time to successfully stear through the open draw of the crumbling bridge, and once beyond this he so skilfully maneuvered that, though spinning like a top at times and careening dangerously at others, he was still afloat when an hour later the wind had spent its force. Then those who had ridiculed, cheered the daredevil tar. A thousand yards farther on was another bridge toppling to destruction, while wreckage eddied all around him.

Mayor Kugler Game to the Core

Yesterday a thousand people went into stricken Washington to view the damage. The at- one-time impassable streets are now nearly cleared of debris. Night and day many street cleaners and 30 convicts had toiled to open the thoroughfares. Seven hundred men are working day and night to replace the four destroyed railroad bridges, but it will be two weeks at least before trains will pass over the two longest of these. In a mass meeting the citizens declared themselves unwilling to accept outside aid, raised a fund to protect against suffering among the poorer element and heard a patriotic speech by Frank Kugler, the mayor, who, himself nearly ruined, has devoted his entire time to the municipality's business. Kugler's mill plant was swept away and with it his all. A fire engine ran so long pumping water from cellars that it was disabled. Fumigation is costing the city a pretty penny. Convicts who had the chance of escaping from the small guard in charge of them declined to leave, it is said, and worked on side by side with the citizens who helped to remove the debris from the streets.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 8.—That through trains will be running over the Norfolk Southern between Raleigh and Norfolk on Thursday night was the statement made today by C. H. Hix, president of the road.

Mr. Hix has just returned from Washington, N. C., where traffic was cut off last Wednesday by the hurricane that swept the coast of North Carolina and Virginia. He said work on the demolished bridges over the Pamlico river and other streams was being rushed. Trains already are running between Washington and Norfolk.

President Hix estimated his company's loss at $100,000, although the loss on account of suspension of through traffic could not be estimated. The property loss, he said, was small compared with the loss of business.

Barge Lost and Crew Drowned

Newbern, N. C., Sept. 8.—That the barge Berkes, in command of Capt. E. H. Derrickson, of Baltimore, and a crew of three men, which left Newbern last Monday morning, en route to Baltimore with a cargo of lumber, was lost during the storm which raged along the North Carolina coast last Tuesday and Wednesday, was definitely learned today, when the Neuse Lumber Company, of this city, the consignors of the cargo, received a message from Capt. Derrickson stating that the boat and crew were lost and that he was the only survivor, having been picked up by the lifesavers at Gull Shoal, after having been in the water for more than 28 hours.

Three Barges in Tow

The Berkes, in company with two other barges, was in tow of the tug Kirkton, on Wednesday morning. The Berkes, which was the last vessel on the tow line, broke her hawser, and the tug was unable to rescue her and the last time she was seen, she was at the mercy of the waves and wind. This was a point about 20 miles off Ocracoke and it is believed that she went to pieces a short time later.

Had $8,000 Cargo

According to Captain Derrickson's message, he floated around in the water after the vessel had sunk until sighted and rescued by the lifesavers at Gull Shoal. This vessel was owned by a Baltimore firm, and was loaded with $8,000 worth of timber. This was owned by the Neuse Lumber Co., and was uninsured.

Schooner's Experience

The Grace Bennett, a three-masted schooner, owned by Harry K. Fulkes, of Laurel, Dela., and in command of Captain S. H. Laramere, of Tyaskin, Md., carrying a cargo of lumber consigned to a Baltimore firm by the Elm City Lumber Company, of Newbern, was caught in the storm at Royall's Point, 50 miles below Newbern, and a part of the cargo was lost. The captain's wife and family were on board, and it was necessary to lash them to the masts to keep them from being washed away by the waves.

All Were Saved

The Captain and his family and crew were finally rescued by the lifesavers at Portsmouth, and spent the night there before they could get away. The vessel was brought to Newbern this afternoon in a badly battered up condition and the crew gave a graphic account of the storm.

TRINITY'S NEW YEAR

Sixty-First Term Will Open Tomorrow With Brightest Prospects

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Durham, N. C., Sept. 8.—The sixty-first session of Trinity College will open at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning September 10th. All students new and old are expected to be present at that time. The college has steadily grown now for many years. Last year especially was memorable at Trinity because it had the largest number of students in its history and received the largest additions to its financial resources ever made in a single year. These increased resources are being used further to strengthen the college in its teaching force and its equipment.

There is every reason to believe that the coming year will see marked progress along all lines.

The hand-book for the benefit of new students has been issued by the Young Men's Christian Association. This hand-book contains much information of value to men who are entering college for the first time. A reception to the new students will be given by the Young Men's Christian Association Tuesday evening, September 16th, in the East Duke building from 8 to 11 o'clock.

Committee of old students will meet all the in-coming trains Monday and Tuesday, September 8th 9th, and all members of these committees will be glad to render any service they can to new students.

An information bureau will be opened in the Washington Duke building, east wing. Here new students will find committees to aid them in securing rooms and board.

A half-dozen new professors are here to take up their work. They are the very fittest men to be had in the country.

Professor George B. Pegram, '95, of Columbia University in the city of New York, has been on a visit to his father, Professor W. H. Pegram. Dr. Pegram who so quickly won his place in the department of Physics in Columbia, is an example of the sort of contribution. Trinity is constantly making to higher education in this country.

H. E. Spence, '07, has lately published a book of poems that for sincerity and excellence will deserve the attention of the reading public. Mr. Spence's verse and that of Plato Durham, '95, ranked high in the volume of North Carolina poetry recently edited by Professor E. C. Brooks, '94.

Camp Perry, O., Sept. 8.—The United States today won the Palma match trophy. Scores: United States 1,714; Argentina 1,684; Canada 1,675; Sweden 1,484; Peru 1,465.

Cussing and discussing seems to be the order of the day everywhere.

There is always something fishy about the overly officious person.

See all the other cities first and then come to Wilmington and be better pleased.

No bachelor will ever be satisfied till he finds out who put the "miss" in mischief.

Tammany seems to have no friends at times but they always show up on election day.

The man who walks on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad must have his nerve with him.

The man who can take the initiative and won't do it is to blame for everything that doesn't happen.

Besides being accused of conveying the cholera, the flea seems to tale special delight in giving the ladies fits.

How long does it take to perfect a cotton picking machine that was pronounced "a perfect success" several years ago?

The gentlemen who play poker for a nickle do so because most of the crowd hasn't got the money to make the ante $2.

We wouldn't walk a block to see a man "fly up-side down." We don't care to see a fellow man dare fate. In fact, we hate to see a man fly off the handle.

People all over the United States talk prosperity in a hysterical manner while three-fourths of the people have to ask the bill collector to call some other day.

Every now and then there are allusions to 'the most beautiful woman in America." Since there are millions of them nobobdy has every seen, how can they say that anyone is more beautiful than the other perfect beauties to be seen wherever you go?

A piece of publicity for Lynchburg says "it would take a train three miles long to carry all the shoes shipped from Lynchburg last month." That is because Lynchburg is manufacturing shoes. The cities which are mostly in the limelight because of their growth and prosperity are manufacturing cities.

A New York man who has gotten rich wants the title of count bestowed upon him. While he was poor, being a count would not have been worth 30 cents to him. Now that he has a fortune he thinks he could get into society quicker by being a count. Unfortunately that is true. Being a rich nobody goes hard with a man in society although it is more plutocratic than it is aristocratic.

Secretary Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, estimates the present cotton crop at 14,167,115 bales. Colonel Hester keeps his eye on the cotton crop from the time it is planted till it is gathered and his figures will come very nearly being correct. However, we do not besitate to estimate that the crop will be 14,167,116 bales. Watch and see which is the more nearly correct.

Political platforms make promises but if they are never carried out, the parties never worry about it. President Wilson thinks a party ought to carry out its platform and he is seeing to it that the Democratic pledges to the people are kept as faithfully as possible. If a platform declaration is not worth carrying out, don't ever put it in. However, too many personal ideas are put in a platform and passed up as a demand from the people.

Don't invite outsiders to come and develop your resources and then afterwards jump on them for getting a cinch. Study the resources of your own community and take advantage of some of them yourself. You ought to do that because you are here and can see them first. Don't let the fellows several hundred miles away see our resources and beat us to them before we wake up. If they do get a cinch don't complain about them. Just kick yourself.

WASHINGTON, BALTIMORE AND THE SOUTH

The Washington Post congratulates the cities of Washington and Baltimore because they are the gateways to the most prosperous and productive portion of the South. Baltimore claims the distinction of being the Southern gateway but the location of Washington will enable her to share the honor with the Monumental City. Referring to the splendid crop prospects in the South Atlantic States, the Washington Post says:

"The publication of the latest report of the government as to the condition of the cotton crop of the United States is serving as the basis of a bull campaign in that staple.

"Private advices, to a marked degree, confirm the crop losses in Northern Texas and Oklahoma, but from the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama and Florida those advices are much better than those of the government report.

"The losses in the Southwest are sufficient to produce higher prices for cotton the world over, and the realization that it will require a total crop of nearly 15,000,000 bales to fully care for the actual consumption goes far toward securing early demand and good prices for every bale of cotton that the South will produce in 1913.

"It will be found that the monetary results will approximate in the total fully as much as the South realized from the record-breaking crop of 1911, but the returns of cash to planters of the States of the South Atlantic coast will be much greater in 1913 than in the year 1911.

"Cotton, tobacco and corn in the States of that region are all in prime condition, and the prices are such as to yield large and munificent profits to the agriculturists of the States to the immediate south of Washington.

"Not in any year since our National history was commenced have the prospects of financial profit to the farmers and planters of those States seemed so great or so certain as they do at this writing, and if no unexpected climatic disaster occurs between now and October 15th, there will be a marvelous accretion of wealth in the States referred to during the coming eight months."

The Star has heretofore called attention to this fortunate agricultural position of North Carolina and her sister States on the South Atlantic. With the prospect of more cash for their 1913 crops than has ever been received in even the biggest crop year of the past, it means the basis of a greater prosperity than these rapidly-developing States have ever experienced in the prosperous years that have followed right after each other for many years. It is a similar fact that the crop supremacy of the South, especially so as to cotton, enabled this portion of the country to pass through the 1907 panic in a better condition than any other portion of America. Even in the midst of the panic the price of cotton was good because the European markets which take two-thirds of the crop were able to absorb and pay for the South's great staple crop. Not a year passes that it does not strengthen the South's agricultural advantages and versatility over all other farming countries of the world. That advantage is going to be more strongly emphasized every year as the South diversifies its crops and continues to be depended upon by Europe for two-thirds of the raw cotton for its great milling industry. The Post, recognizing this advantage of the South, and especially of the South Atlantic States, goes on to say:

"Foreign cash, by the hundreds of millions of dollars, will be added to the movement of money from all sections of our own country to pay for the agricultural products of Virginia, the two Carolinas, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Tennessee, and that means an immense trade not only to the local merchants of those States, but to cities such as New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, all directly on the short lines of communication with the States named.

"These millions of dollars poured into the South stand for a great activity in building in every one of the States; these millions of cash mean more factories, more shops, more school houses, more churches, larger areas in cultivation next year, more new settlers, and general development along every material line of enterprise and business.

"This prosperity means greater demands and higher prices for the profit-producing acres of the Southern lands, increase in immigration to the Southeastern States, additional railway construction, and increased revenues to the railways already in operation in that section of the republic.

"No two cities in the country will gather a larger share of the commercial results of this Southern business activity than will Washington and Baltimore, and it will, without doubt, show very speedily in the increased business of the merchants in each place."

The Post sees it right. This fortunate crop year for this immediate section and its generally prosperous agricultural and industrial condition year in and year out, means much for Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. It means more for North Carolina and her sister States, for such a prosperous period as we ought to have ahead of us means a greater business for these States and a continuation of their development on a greater scale. There is every reason why nothing but optimism should prevail in all the States between the Gulf of Mexico and the Potomac. Washington and Baltimore ought to get theirs in a larger measure than ever if they will get busy.

GETTING BACKED IN FARMING

Financing an industrious, enterprising man who wants to engage in farming is getting to be one of the safest propositions for people who have money to loan on reasonable terms. In the Nation's Garden Spot the farming chances are so sure that the right sort of men are buying farms and soon paying for them after a year or two's assistance. The man who farms right in this part of the country has a good business proposition on his hands, and the success being achieved around Wilmington and throughout this tidal region is the rule, whether a farmer diversifies or specializes his production. Speaking of the pretty proposition that diversified agriculture is in this section, the Florence Times observes:

"When a young farmer can pay all of his farm debts with part of his tobacco crop and get them paid in August when they are not due until October and November, it strikes us that means that farmer pursued are means worth encouraging. There are a great many men who would be glad to plant tobacco and truck if they could get the backing from the bank and the merchant."

It is certainly a lucky farmer who can sell mid-Summer crops that will pay his bills three months before they are due. The reason he is lucky is because he is in a country of such marvelous agricultural versatility and generousness of production. The man who rakes in cash for truck and strawberries early in the season, has another installment of cash coming to him for a tobacco crop in August, and yet has his cotton and other crop money for a surplus, certainly is a lucky man in a fortunate country. The man who uses all his opportunities in eastern North Carolina can do what the Florence farmer does, and what others there also can do, by following his example in the diversification of his crops.

Instances like that referred to by our esteemed Florence contemporary are so numerous they hardly seem notable to us. The Star a few days ago referred to a farmer who picked up a profit of $240 an acre on every acre of twenty-five acres planted in tobacco, and yet the same land sown in peas will furnish more forage than he can house. He could pay his debts if he had any but he doesn't have to have any. He can salt down some of his $6,000 of tobacco money and still have his cotton, corn and other crops for sale in the Fall and Winter as the markets warrant.

Another reason that a man in the Nation's Garden Spot is lucky is because of its transportation facilities for reaching both the home and Northern markets. It is a straight shoot in refrigerator cars for perishable products, and less than twenty-four hours' run to the biggest markets in the United States and Canada. After all it isn't luck. It is simply good fortune in a fortunate land.

What this country needs is more development and greater production. Financing industrious farmers is a good way to get both. Plenty of good men will take a shot at farming if they can get assistance in making the start.

JAPANESE CHESTNUTS GROW HERE

Captain E. D. Williams yesterday brought The Star fine specimens of Japanese chestnuts grown on his model farm just beyond the city limits, on the Market street road in East Wilmington. They are ripe and open and the nuts are large and beautiful. They are about three times the size of the native chestnut peculiar to the North Carolina mountains.

Six trees on Captain Williams' place produced nuts this year. He planted the trees two years ago when the shrubs were two years old. He planted twelve but took up six and threw them away because somebody who didn't know any better told him this was no country for nuts and fruits. From the start, however, his six remaining trees flourished and in two years they have become so vigorous as to begin bearing.

The specimen given The Star is as fine as the native Japanese chestnuts sent to the American market. Captain Williams' has demonstrated to his own satisfaction that chestnuts, figs, peaches, plums and all sorts of fruit luxuriate here and bear earlier than elsewhere, and he says he is done listening to people who tell him things will not grow here. He is satisfied now that about everything under the sun will grow in eastern North Carolina. The only reason a thing won't grow here is because it is not planted. Captain Williams is satisfied on that point and hereafter wouldn't listen a minute to a man who is either a negativist, a pessimist or a doubting Thomas of any description.

This is an ideal country for fruit and nut growing, Captain Williams declares. He has tried it and knows. He says there will be no trouble about growing all sorts of fruits if they are given the proper attention. His fine peaches gathered in May were the best early peaches we ever saw, and the pity is that this section will not require refrigerator train service to give New York a chance at such peaches by the train load.

The outcome of the effort of the State to show that the dismemberment of the C. F. & Y. V. railroad was in violation of the law is a subject that has stirred interested speculation throughout the State, particularly in that portion which is directly affected by the road. One of the most pertinent questions that has been asked is, what will happen if the State proves its contention? Will we be any better off? No matter what the outcome will be, the final word in the case will not be spoken for a mighty long time to come. The road cost North Carolina people seven million dollars. The Southern and A. C. L. got it for three million, and instead of giving the State a railroad that would enable it to enjoy the benefits of water transportation to this port, the road has fallen into the general scheme of things that maintains freight rates which defeat the purpose the builders had in view.

Colonel Roosevelt has given advice to Governor Sulzer. What the Governor probably would prefer would be for some valuable advice from a first class lawyer.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Wilmington Star is advising North Carolinians to save their money so Christmas shopping can be done early. Down here in South Carolina the modern Christmas savings club does the work, and everybody has Christmas money.—Rock Hill Herald.

Two Mecklenburg county girls, Miss Margaret Brown, aged 15 years, and her sister, Miss May Belle Brown, aged 12, of Mallard Creek township, have netted more than $200 from one-fifth acre of tomatoes this Summer and the older of these live an energetic ladies has just been to Raleigh to tell the convention of 350 rural housewives how she did it.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Senator Simmons has shown a rather marked inclination to choose his friends, in recommending men to office. It is a symptom, indeed, that developed in the early days of the administration, and has been well sustained. Of course, there may have been departures from the rule, but those departures have not been of such frequent occurrence as to attract any special attention. Men known to have offended against the proprieties in criticising the senior Senator have stood little chance of securing an endorsement which, gentlemen have found, to their evident distress, to be a pre-requisite to appointment.—Greensboro News.

The Observer is not among those who joy in the tribulations of the Transcontinental Railroad. The scheme was not only practical, but was aimed at the material development of the State upon a scale that could not be grasped by some people. The plans over which Colonel Jones has been so vigorously assailed are destined to be accomplished, if not by his efforts, then by those of his successors. The fact that he had arranged to finance the project by foreign capital seems to have excited an enmity that lost no opportunity to harrass and cripple. These efforts at embarrassment have been successful in holding off the financial materialization of the plans of the promoters, culminating at a time calculated to prove fatal. The Observer does not know what procedure is contemplated by Colonel Jones and his associates, whether it is to be surrendered to what may appear the inevitable, or a re-organization and new life. We are honestly of the opinion, however, that the intentions of the promoters of this road were good and sound. It was unfortunate that the suspicion always surrounding it could not have been cleared in an understandable manner. Colonel Jones may have tried to take the State into his confidence, but it seems to have been his misfortune to have failed. He would lose his temper and talk defiance. He was frank enough, but not diplomatic. But after all is said, Jones started a good work. The State is going to be forced to admit as much, one of these days.—Charlotte Observer.

AGREES WITH MR. HEFLIN.

To the Editor of The Star:

Please allow me space in your paper for a few remarks. I saw in Thursday's Star the report of the speech on woman suffrage made by Congressman Heflin, of Alabama, and I want to approve of what he said. I believe it will endanger our homes to grant equal suffrage, and I also agree that there should be reform in the pulpit and at the altar. Suffragettes are not the only ones who get impatient with St. Paul and his doctrines and the teachings of the Bible about Sabbath observance, card playing, church concerts and ball rooms. The doctrines as to these apply to both men and women. Why, we have church members right here in and around Wilmington who patronize things which are forbidden by the Bible, but which they think is no harm. Well, Paul said to shun the appearance of evil.

No wonder Vice President Marshall said that home influence is needed. And just let a Holiness preacher get up and preach against these popular sins and pleasant wickedness and they are ready to put them in jail because they preach the Word, and its condemation of sins of all kind. It seems that the church itself is taking part with the popular sins and that is one reason why it is losing its hold on the people, as Mr. Marshall said. We need more home influence and as long as the church members and preachers take part with the world in these things they will lose ground. J. A. HOLLEMAN, Delgado, N. C., Sept. 8, 1913.

SLOW PROGRESS ON CURRENCY.

Senate Democrats Will Cease Activities Until Measure Passes House.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Democratic leaders in the Senate decided today to make no further movement toward an agreement on the administration currency bill until it has passed the House. After a conference with colleagues on the Banking committee, Chairman Owen today secured President Wilson's tentative approval to the plan. It was predicted today that consideration of the bill in committee will continue until the middle of October before it will be possible to estimate what support it can command in the Senate.

The Senate Banking committee resumed hearings today with W. H. Allen, of Brooklyn, the only witness. At the end of a short session, the committee adjourned.

Chairman Henry, of the House Rules committee, called at the White House today, he said, to assure President Wilson that his committee was ready to introduce a special rule if necessary to expedite the bill through the House. He predicted that the bill would be passed by the House after a week's debate.

Chairman Owen arranged late today for a resumption of the currency hearings Tuesday, September 16th, at which the first of several financial students will be examined by the committee.

CAPE FEAR USELESS TO STATE

Rate Expert Says it Might as Well be Closed to Navigation, for All the Good it Does in Lowering Rates.

The Charlotte Observer of yesterday carried an interview given out by Mr. W. S. Creighton, rate expert for the State Just Freight Rate Association, and traffic manager for the Charlotte Shippers and Manufacturers' Association, on the subject of rates via Norfolk and Wilmington to Charlotte, giving tables showing distances, class rates, etc., developing by this the point that insofar as this port is of any use to the State in securing lower rates such as Virginia has secured by reason of Norfolk, the port might as well be closed and the Cape Fear river shut to navigation. Portions of his interview are herewith presented:

"It is clear that the potentialities of the port of Wilmington are not being realized upon, nor recognized in the making of rates into the interior of North Carolina, as is the case at Savannah with reference to the making of rates into the interior of Georgia. The Cape Fear river had as well be closed up, for the purpose of navigation and the economies of transportation, if no other good use can be found for this stream. It was, however, put there for just such purposes.

"As at Savannah, so at Wilmington. The rates from the East into North Carolina must depend upon the North Carolina ports and those ports must be opened up and developed. Under the present method of rate construction the rates from the East must come down. Either they are too high or the adjustment offered by the carriers from the West is too low.

"The all water rates from New York to Wilmington are relatively higher than to any other port on the Atlantic or Gulf, and the rail rates in North Carolina are higher, density of traffic considered, than in the States adjoining. Thus by combining high factors to and from Wilmington the transportation lines are aided and abetted in keeping our North Carolina towns and cities tied, hard and fast, to Norfolk as a rate-making point. Wilmington is bottled up by reason of this fact and due also to the further fact that the rail lines control the water carriers, either through stock ownership or traffic agreements. Conditions at Wilmington are not free and normal. The rail lines will not allow a water carrier to come into Wilmington and break up their Norfolk arrangement. The only thing that keeps the Clyde Line in the Wilmington service is the local Wilmington business. This line accepts business to the interior at lower divisions than via Norfolk. This, however, enables the Clyde to increase its revenue, lower its cost of operation, and add to its net.

"A National law, enacted by Congress, takes effect on July 1st, 1914, requiring rail lines to divest themselves of ownership of water-carrying lines. When that law takes effect, if there is a real dissolution and not a mere perfunctory compliance with the letter of the law, there will be re-opened the possibility of real, active, sharp and keen water competition at Wilmington, which should do much to stimulate commerce in North Carolina to inter-State channels, at least to the extent of enabling our shippers to do business at home on equal terms with shippers outside of North Carolina.

"There is practically no water competition at Wilmington for the reason that while the Clyde Line may be an independent line, as it professes to be, yet, it is so tied up, under traffic agreements, with the rail lines as to tender it inactive in the sense of being a factor tending to produce the normal, low, level of water rates, such as should be in effect at Wilmington.

"In other words the Clyde Line is neutral. It simply serves to keep out other lines that would produce, if in independent hands, active and effective competition, compelling lower rates to Wilmington as well as to interior points throughout the State.

"The absence of water competition at Wilmington may be an excuse for holding Carolina rates up to a high level, but it is not a reason.

"It is a sure thing that these rates must be lowered if North Carolina shippers are ever able to do business in competition with Virginia cities.

"It is also reasonably sure, in view of the foregoing showing of earnings for the rail lines, via the Wilmington route, that the Seaboard Air Line and Atlantic Coast Line would not object to an increased volume of traffic through the Wilmington route, since for less service they get more revenue than via the Norfolk route. The Southern Railway is the controlling line in the Carolina rate adjustment and it is the Southern Railway that is responsible for holding up the Carolina rates to a high level."

DELIGHTFUL TRIP TO SEA

Steamer Wilmington Thronged With Joyous Crowd Sunday

The first of a special series of Sunday trips down the river and out to sea on the splendid steamer Wilmington was enjoyed by a large crowd Sunday and those who were guests of Capt. Harper for this occasion spent a most delightful day. The steamer went straight to the Black Fish Grounds after touching at Carolina Beach, Southport and Fort Caswell. The steamer lay off the "rocks" for an hour or more and they do say some of the more ardent disciples of Izaak Walton could not resist the temptation to drop a line over the side, being rewarded by more than "indifferent luck." Anyway the party on board declared the day was one of splendid pleasure and they rejoice to know that Capt. Harper will run another of these delightful trips next Sunday.

MR. MATT J. HEYER'S FUNERAL

Sad Service Held from St. James' Episcopal Church Yesterday Afternoon—Attended by Many Friends.

Attended by many relatives and friends, gathered there to pay a tribute of love and respect to his memory, simple but impressive funeral services were held from St. James' Episcopal church yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in honor of Mr. Matthew J. Heyer, for many years one of Wilmington's leading business men and honored citizens, whose death occurred Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock at his home, No. 420 North Second street.

In the absence of the rector, Rev. Dr. William H. Milton, the services were conducted by Rev. Thos. P. Noe, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, assisted by Rev. Wm. E. Cox, rector of St. John's Episcopal church.

There were many friends and relatives present to honor the memory of one who lived a long and useful life and who was one of the foremost factors in advancing the interests along every line of his native city.

Music was given by the choir of St. James' church. They sang "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me" which were favorite songs of Mr. Heyer.

Following the services at the church the body was tenderly borne to Oakdale cemetery where the interment was made. There were many beautiful floral tributes from the hands of loving friends. The grave was covered with the designs which bore mute testimony to the high esteem in which he was held by his many acquaintances in Wilmington and elsewhere.

The pall bearers were: Messrs. C. J. Mitchell, Chas. E. Taylor, Jr., L. Hanson, Chas. N. Evans, G. H. Hutaff and John D. Bellamy.

Mr. Heyer's death came as a great surprise to his hundreds of devoted friends in the city and other places. While it was known that he had been in failing health he had recently appeared to be much better. Many called at the home Sunday and yesterday to extend their condolences to the grief-stricken wife and children. His death brought sadness to many people who had learned to admire him for his business sagacity and to esteem him highly for his many splendid traits of character.

SEDUCTION CHARGED

R. M. Bryant, Young White Man, of Masonboro, Arrested Yesterday

R. M. Bryant, a young white man, of Masonboro Sound, was arrested yesterday by Constable Davis, on a warrant charging him with seduction of Miss Docia Hines, under promise of marriage. He was given a hearing yesterday afternoon before Justice Bornemann, who found probable cause, and sent the case to Superior Court for trial. In default of bond in the sum of $500 Bryant was committed to jail. Bryant is about 20 years old, and the girl whom it is charged that he seduced is about 15.

Relative of Mrs. Fowler.

It will be of interest to friends to know that Mr. Fred Bultman, the young man of Columbia, S. C., who on last Friday was robbed of $16,000, while on his way together with an employe and a deputy sheriff to Parr Shoals, 26 miles from Columbia, to pay off the force of the J. G. White Construction Company, is a nephew of Mrs. John J. Fowler, of this city. He is only 20 years old, but has already gained a reputation for efficiency and integrity. No trace has been found of the three men who held up the men at the point of revolvers, and took the money from them.

PREACHERS ASK FOR NON-SUIT

Recorder Hears Evidence in Cases Against "Unknown Tongue" Ministers—Reserves Decision Until Today.

The Recorder usually has a big docket on Monday mornings composed of blind tigers, drunks and other similar charges, but he had an entirely new kind of case to try yesterday, this being that against a number of preachers who have been engaged in holding meetings at Delgado village for the last ten days.

They were indicted last week for common nuisance, and after a hearing before Justice Harriss were sent to the Recorder for trial. Their names are Reuben Jarrell, ialph Mills, C. W. Harvell, Jarvis Mills and Mason Cavenaugh. Upon the conclusion of the State's testimony L. Clayton Grant, Esq., attorney for the defendants, asked for a non-suit. The Recorder reserved his decision until this morning.

The docket started off in the usual Monday morning manner by calling the roll which the police had made out of those who had partaken of too much "spirits." The Recorder in his usual calm and serene manner ordered Clerk Hogue to enter a fine of $5 and the costs against each of them. One being unable to obtain the money was ordered to be sent to the roads for 30 days.

The clerk next called out the case of the preachers charged with common nuisance. Immediately there was the most strict attention on the part of the large crowd which had wedged its way into the stuffy little court room where the Recorder has to hold forth when the "big court" is in session upstairs. It was 9:40 o'clock, and Justice Harriss had set the trial for 10:30 o'clock according to Walter P. Gafford, Esq., who appeared as an attorney for the State, and, therefore, Hon. John D. Bellamy, also attorney for the State, was not present. He asked the court to postpone the case until that time. Solicitor Peschau said that he didn't think that he could be there at that time as he had business in Superior Court. Mr. Grant thought that 12 o'clock would be a good time, and the case was set for that hour.

The crowd that had gathered early in the morning at the Court House stayed on, and when court was reconvened at 12 o'clock there were as many as could find their way inside while great numbers had to remain on the outside. The examination of witnesses for the State was immediately taken up, and for two hours one man after another told the same story over and over to the effect that with these men as leaders there had been a meeting in progress at Delgado for the last ten days, and that the noise at night from 8 until 11:30 o'clock was annoying to them, and it was impossible for anyone to sleep within a radius of a half dozen blocks while the services were in progress.

The objectionable noise was described as being a screaming, shrieking and moaning and could be heard for eight to ten blocks away, several said. The witnesses who live near the place stated that it wasn't so much the loudness, though one said that this feature was worse than a brass band, as it was the character of the cries which were similar to the calls made by some one in deep distress. Some said that they couldn't get to sleep until a late hour, and that this was a great hindrance to them as they have to get up early in the morning to get to their work.

Most of the witnesses had attended the meetings out of "curiosity", and one young man, who said he lived a half mile away, stated that he went because he couldn't sleep until it was over, and he thought that he might as well be there as anywhere. Another went because he thought it was a good show. All united in the opinion that there was plenty of noise, and seemingly a-plenty of action, especially among the women, who are most vitally interested in the progress of the meetings.

After examining a dozen or more witnesses the State rested, and Mr. Grant immediately asked for a nonsuit on the grounds that no case had been made out. As it was already past the usual dinner hour it was submitted to the Recorder without argument, and he announced that he would make known his decision today. In the meantime the defendants were recognized for their appearance with the understanding that they should not resume preaching at Delgado until the matter is settled.

—License has been issued here for the marriage of Mr. Charlie E. Moore and Miss Anna Lewis, both of Rocky Mount.

SEPTEMBER TERM OF COURT

Began Yesterday With Able Charge to Grand Jury by Judge Rountree—Remarks About Trial by Newspapers.

"Vagrancy, whiskey and pistol toting are the three-fold causes of most of the crime dealt with by me since I have been on the bench and it is the duty of the court, commencing with the grand jury and on through to the presiding judge, to so deal with them as to suppress their violation," said Judge George Rountree, of this city, in his charge to the grand jury upon the convening of the regular two weeks' term of New Hanover Superior Court yesterday morning.

Judge Rountree did not dwell on this point, but merely mentioned it along with a number of others in order to put the people to thinking. It was very evident from his earnestness that he intends to do the judge's part in his court in suppressing violations of the vagrancy, whiskey and pistol toting laws, as well as in other violations.

This is Judge Rountree's third term of court as presiding judge and the second term he has held in this county. As was said of him at the first term, there is nothing in his manner and methods to indicate that his experience on the bench has been short. Like all his friends predicted he is making a fine presiding officer and is fast impressing members of the local bar and spectators in court with the fact that in Judge Rountree is one of the ablest judges on the bench in North Carolina, which fact is bound to be equally as manifest in every other county in which he holds court in the future.

Judge Rountree also touched upon the tendency of the times to try cases in the newspapers before they are disposed of in the courts. This is manifest in papers all over the country to some degree, but locally there is not much to complain of, for the papers here in giving accounts of trials, both civil and criminal, as a rule steer entirely away from comments, especially those that are calculated to prejudice the case one way or the other, and confine the narrative to a statement of facts.

"Trial of cases by newspapers is not quite a satisfactory method of administering justice," said Judge Rountree. "And yet it is one of those things which cannot be helped, the forming of opinions from reading of accounts in newspapers. Therefore, I hope that our papers will give accounts of matters before they are disposed of in court in such a manner as to not comment and thus cause opinion to be formed."

He cited as an instance the Holly case, which, however, he said, was not exactly an illustration of the point as the case had been tried three times and every particle of the evidence had become familiar to the reading public. It was hard in picking the jury to find a person who had not formed or expressed an opinion in the case.

"It seems to me," continued Judge Rountree, "that our papers ought to withhold comment on a case until it is disposed of in our courts. This would go a long way toward eliminating affirmative answers to the question propounded to a prospective juror, 'Have you formed or expressed an opinion?' etc. After the case has been tried it is perfectly right and proper that our papers—as they do in their vigorous style—comment on the result. The freedom of the press is necessary for maintenance of civil liberty.

"It is a painful observation that it is hard for the State to get a fair trial on account of the solicitude of the people on behalf of the prisoner in some cases," said Judge Rountree.

Another thing that makes it hard for the State, it was pointed out by the court, is the fact that when the solicitor makes out a strong case, though it may be of circumstantial evidence, he is not permitted to say to the jury that the explanation lies in the breast of the defendant and that he did not go on the stand and make it.

Judge Rountree next took up the evil of the court's delay in the administration of justice. He did not blame any part of the court any more than the other for this condition, but held lawyers and judges alike responsible for it.

"All newspapers and a large number of the magazines," he said, "are in this condition of unrest in which we are passing. The comments for the most part are not only honest, but enlightening and stimulating and ought to cause members of the bar to see plainly the cause of delay in the administration of justice, and, seeing, aid in the remedy. This is not the time nor the place for me to express my own views on the matter. There is no question of delay in the administration of justice and also there is often a miscarriage of justice. There are many lawyers who aid in the delay of the trial of cases; the judges also are often affected with inertia in like degree. The higher courts contribute also in sending back cases for trivial causes. This delay and miscarriage of justice is caused largely, too, by the 'dear people' who are represented in the jury box.

"These things I have mentioned in the hope that they will cause the people to do a little thinking along these lines," said Judge Rountree.

He mentioned the fact that the American Bar Association is trying to induce some reforms, among which is to get the people to realize that all courts are means to an end and that justice is the end.

Judge Rountree did not go into a lengthy exposition of the criminals law remarking that he did not deem it necessary to define the various crimes as the jurors, men of intelligence and understanding, know all about them.

However, he did mention two laws enacted by the last Legislature which are of much importance and which he called special attention to. The first he mentioned is the amendment to the statute with reference to cigarettes. Any minor under 17 years old caught by a police or county officer smoking a cigarette and refuses to tell when questioned from whom he secured the cigarette or "the makings", no matter whether they were purchased or given to him, is guilty of a misdemeanor and may be indicted.

"Cigarette smoking is a most pernicious habit for any man to form, especially the callow youth. According to medical experts the cigarette is greatly injurious to the physical and mental well-being of the person smoking them," then after reading the statute he said:

"It is an expression of growing public opinion, re-enforced by the best medical opinion and finally has been formulated in this law. I hope that cognizance of the law has been taken in this community and that it will not be necessary to enforce the law here."

Next he spoke of the very stringent cocaine law passed by the last Legislature, which makes it a crime to give away or sell cocaine or any mixture or compound containing cocaine except by a druggist on prescription of a physician.

Judge Rountree told the jurors that their duty was two-fold. First, they are to find indictments; second, presentments of matters not before them in a bill of indictment, this for action by a future grand jury. He said that while it is not the business of the grand jury to hear a statement by a person whose alleged crime is being inquired into, yet if they know of any evidence that would tend to exculpate him it is their duty to secure it, for no matter what view of the case the petit jury may take it is a stigma upon a person to be indicted by the grand jury.

The jurors were advised that in making presentments the document, an informal paper, should contain the names of all those giving the evidence on which the presentment is made, even grand jurors themselves if they testify.

Judge Rountree enjoined upon the grand jurors the importance of secrecy. They should not let any person know what they are doing, not even the court. If some States the solicitor is permitted to go before the even the court. In some States the grand jury, when it wants information, can receive it from the court, or the foreman can talk to the solicitor In speaking of the importance of keeping secret matters before the grand jury and the reason it is required, Judge Rountree mentioned the fact that recently a person who was being investigated by the grand

SURPRISE MARRIAGE SUNDAY AT RECTORY OF ST. MARY'S

A wedding of interest to many friends in the State was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock at the rectory of St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral with Rev. Father Dennen as the officiating minister, when Mrs. Florence K. Spivey, formerly of Grifton but who has for the past year been residing at Kinston, and Mr. R. C. Banks, of Wilmington, were united in marriage. It was a complete surprise to their many friends as they had given no intimation that the happy event was to take place at this time. The bride and groom left on the evening train for Fayetteville, where they will make their home this Winter. Mr. Banks is with Alexander Sprunt & Sons, cotton exporters, and represents this firm at Fayetteville. Near-Fire This Morning.

The timely discovery of a small blaze in the office of Mr. B. F. Keith, upstairs in the southwest corner of the old Atlantic Bank building, Nos. 14 and 16 Princess street, directly across the street from The Star office, shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, enabled the firemen to get on the scene and extinguish the fire before any damage was done. The blaze was confined to some old papers in a corner of the room. It is likely that the fire was started by rats and matches. Some one rooming in the Starkey Building, across the street, discovered the blaze, and called to a Star man, who called the firemen by telephone. The fire was quenched with chemicals.

Wants John McNabb's Vacated Job.

THOMAS HAYDEN, WHO WOULD BE DISTRICT ATTORNEY IN CALIFORNIA.

..Theatrical..

"The Confessional" that will be seen at the Academy next Tuesday night, April 16th, comes to Wilmington from two triumphal seasons on tour, after scoring a successful engagement at the Broadway Bijou Theatre, New York City.

"The Confession" uses for its theme life's most vital subjects, telling a story that is consistent, interesting and with a strong uplift. A priest, a mother, a sweetheart, an innocent man condemned to death are among the central figures of this play of today. It is claimed that no more absorbing tragedy has ever been conceived nor greater stage picture and lesson ever presented. The subject produces material for a play that would be of unusual and unlike anything ever produced.

Mr. James Halleck Reid, the author, has submitted his play to the public, firm in the belief that the much-abused theatre-goer would welcome a play with real life interest, dramatic worth, consistency of plot and literary merit. To this end he has labored. The locale of the play is placed at Gloucester, Mass.; Charleston, Mass., and Boston, Mass. The scenes are the rectory of "Our Lady of Mercy Church," Gloucestor, Mass., and the Governor's office at Boston. The preliminary court room, Gloucester, the prison at Charleston. The time of the play is the present. There is a very pretty love story and a delicious vein of comedy running through the play that relieves the tenser moments.

The Bijou Today.

It was just the dandiest kind of a week's inauguration the popular Bijou enjoyed yesterday and, of course, huge-sized audiences were on hand to enjoy the occasion with the attractive theatre. It was the swellest bill the Bijou daintily served-up and immensely pleased all. Today's menu is also a tempting feast and will be reveled in by hundreds. The show will be headed by a special two-reel release, the Vitagraph's "Father and Son, or the Curse of the Golden Land." It is one of the most powerful tales ever told, being intensely, thrillingly dramatic from start to finish, while the scenery is beautiful. A fine cast appears in the film, which adds great charm. Another big star for today is Lubin's "An Actor's Strategy." It deals with an ever-fascinating subject in a new way and should not be missed. In spite of today's big bill the price of admission will remain at the same old figure—5 cents.

New Week at The Grand

The cozy, handsome Grand made a rousing start of the new week yesterday and will keep up the merry pace throughout the week, the selection of films and music for this week being the best yet. Yesterday's show made a big hit, but today's will make a much bigger, being just such a show as every one likes. It has plenty of strong, dramatic, much wholesome comedy and several great educational films. The leading photoplay for today is Essanay's superb dramatic, "The Rose of Sharon," which is a war-time story, possessing all the fire of strife and carnage and all the vivid scenes of such an epoch. Yet there is a pretty love story running throughout. It tells how two lovers are separated by the War Between the States and are only brought together 20 years later, at a reunion of the Blue and the Grey. Melies has a big educational film on in "The Rice Industry of Java." It is something exceptionally good in this line. The latest Pathe Weekly is also a feature today and it is the most newsy and the most entertaining of all the Pathe films of this class.

STORM DID MUCH DAMAGE

Belhaven Almost Wiped Off Map by Tornado and Flood Last Week

One of the towns in Eastern North Carolina that was heavily hit by the tornado and flood of last week was Belhaven, which according to a letter written Saturday and received yesterday by the Carolina Insurance Co., of this city, was almost wiped off the map. The latter is from Mr. F. Snyder, a member of the firm of Stubbs & Snyder, agents for The Carolina, at that point, and is as follows:

"Belhaven came near being wiped off the map by a tornado and flood. Many homes were swept away. The flood extended for miles into the country destroying crops and many buildings. All the property on the water front in Belhaven that was not swept away was badly damaged. At the present time no intelligent idea of the loss can be given. Two of our mills were practically destroyed, and the other mills were seriously damaged. The Norfolk Southern docks were blown and washed away, and no trains are able to reach us. The mail is sent by carrier to the first station up the line.

"Water flooded all the business houses to a depth of from three to six feet, and their loss is great. Many are homeless and unless trains can be run in here soon the people will suffer from hunger. Things are desperate. Our office was flooded for about three feet, and this is the first time that the writer has been able to get into the office to do anything. It is impossible to describe the situation to you.

"We can send in our regular monthly reports to you but it will be some time before we can collect from our assured, and we will have to ask you to be patient until the people can get in shape to do business and to earn money. It is a most discouraging time for our business men as they have lost heavily, but so far as their stock is concerned they will not suffer the loss that they now fear as a considerable part of it can be cleaned and put in shape again. Crops are destroyed and upon the crops depends their business to a great extent. No lives were lost at this point."

jury got wind of what was going on and made his getaway before action was taken. He said that he had known, some of the most intelligent men who had gone before the grand jury and given evidence and thought that this gave them a right to talk with grand jurors outside the jury room about the matter reported by him. This is an incorrect impression.

"Do your duty faithfully and conscientiously according to the facts presented to you and you will have nothing to fear," said Judge Rountree in conclusion.

Mr. D. J. Fergus is foreman of the grand jury, and the other members are W. M. Atkinson, O. C. Hill, C. H. Batson, H. E. Longley, C. B. Newcombe, J. E. Marshburn, J. S Lane, E. V. McKenzie, W. I. Baxter, W. M. Godwin, J. F. Applewhite, J. L. Davis, C. B. Parker, B. B. Trask, M. P. Craig, H. Z. Clowe. Mr. Geo. H. Ward is the officer in charge of the grand jury.

Murder Trial Tomorrow

Albert Highsmith, colored, charged with the murder of Julius Sumpter, colored, a few months ago, will be placed on trial for his life tomorrow morning, a special venire of 50 names having been drawn from the jury box from which to select a jury. Wm. J. Bellamy, Esq., appears for the defendant. True bill was found at the July term of court and the defendant was arraigned at that time. Highsmith boarded at the home of Sumpter. The trouble which ended in the death of Sumpter started when Sumpter asked him for the amount due for board. As a result of the dispute which followed Highsmith shot and killed Sumpter.

A case against Lila Gouchy, charged with keeping a disorderly house, was nol prossed with leave, the statement having been made to the court that the woman has removed from the State.

Will Not Appeal

J. B. Neeley, the young man who was tried at the last term of court on a charge of violating the State near-beer law in that he sold "No Tax," a beverage put up especially for the Wilmington trade by the Robt. Portner Brewing Co., of Alexandria, Va., yesterday gave notice through his attorney, Woodus Kellum, Esq., that the case would not be appealed to Supreme Court. When he was convicted in July attorneys for the defendant stated that it was their purpose to take the case up to Supreme Court, but it was afterwards decided to accept the judgment of the lower court, which was a fine of $25 and costs and agreement not to engage in the sale of the stuff again. He shipped back to Alexandria all the "No Tax" which he had on hand, this being in accordance with his agreement with the court. In the Recorder's court Neeley was fined $500 and costs. It was from this judgment that appeal was taken to Superior Court.

In the case against Jake James, formerly superintendent of the convict camp in East Wilmington, who is charged with assault with deadly weapon on a negro convict whom he shot one night some months ago while both were in the city for a short time searching for an escaped convict, the statement was made that relatives or friends of the defendant had sent to Mr. R. A. Burnett, the bondsman, $300 with which to pay the bond which was declared forfeited at the last term of court, and it was asked that Mr. Burnett be allowed to pay the amount into court as full settlement of the bond without having to pay any costs. The clerk, Maj. W. N. Harriss, stated that there would not be any cost to pay if the amount was paid into court immediately, before capias was issued.

The bond of Douglas Ewell, colored, charged with retailing, was declared forfeited and it was ordered that the amount, $200, be paid into court by the bondsman, Mr. L. J. Carter. Through his attorney, Woodus Kellum, Esq., Mr. Carter asked to be given until next term of court to produce the defendant in court, stating that he had spent several weeks in search of him and had finally located him. Solicitor Lyon said that Mr. Carter was not going to lose anything by the forfeiture of the bond for he told him at the last term of court that the negro had made him secure with a mortgage on property worth several times the amount. After this statement, Judge Rountree ordered the bond forfeited and also ordered a capias issued and sent to the place where the negro is reported in the answer of Mr. Carter to be located.

The three cases against Mrs. Elizabeth vanB. Nichols, formerly a society leader of this city, charged with embezzlement of funds aggregating about $15,000 belonging to Mrs. Helene P. LeMassena, of Philadelphia, a long-time close personal friend, were continued until the next term, as the capias that was issued at the July term when the indictments were brought, has not yet been served. The whereabouts of Mrs. Nichols is not known.

Mr. Harry Edmond Rogers, of the Wilmington Law School, who recently came here from Philadelphia, where he was a member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, was introduced to the court by Brooke G. Empie, Esq., and admitted to the practice of law in the courts of this State. Judge Rountree welcomed him as a member of the New Hanover bar and extended to him the best wishes of the court for a large and lucrative practice.

Was Speeding Some

Judge Rountree commented upon upon the speed at which many automobiles are run in the county. It is evident that he intends to aid in every way he can to secure an observance of the automobile speed law. Judge Rountree said that a few days ago he was riding out in the county with a friend and according to the speedometer they were running at the rate of 20 miles an hour—five miles under the maximum allowed by law. Another friend of his, who owns a large and more powerful car, came driving up behind and shot by them. At the request of Judge Rountree the friend with whom he was riding speeded his car up to 25 miles an hour. Even at this rate of speed they were soon left so far behind that they could not see the car ahead.

"Wasn't His Honor exceeding the speed limit?" inquired Hon. John D. Bellamy, whom the court had smilingly referred to as a pretty fast driver.

"No, we remained within the law," replied the court.

Fast drivers of automobiles can hardly look for any sympathy from Judge Rountree when they exceed the speed limit.

Nol pros with leave was taken in a case against Frank Brown, a white man, charged with running a disorderly house. Capias was issued in a case against Mrs. Joe Bass, charged with keeping a bawdy house. In a case against Joe Pigford, charged with assault with deadly weapon, the jury was unable to agree and a mistrial resulted.

Some Plain Talk

Solicitor Lyon reported to Judge Rountree that he was greatly handicapped in the prosecution of his docket because of the failure of witnesses to answer and that many of the lawyers who have cases in court expected to be sent for when needed. Judge Rountree declared that this was not the business-like way in which the court should be run and that hereafter those witnesses who are not present when called will be fined and that so far as the members of the bar are concerned if they are not present when cases in which they are interested are taken up the trial will proceed without them.

The case against John Davis, colored, charged with retailing, was continued until the next term of court on account of the absence of witnesses. Capiases were issued for F. W. Cornish and J. E. Littleton, white men, who are witnesses in the case. Allen Pearsall, a witness in another case, failed to answer when his name was called and a capias was ordered issued for him by Judge Rountree.

Divorce was granted Robt. W. Lamont, colored, from his wife, Mary E. Lamont.

Court adjourned at 5:30 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock this morning in the midst of the trial of E. Williams, a young white man, charged with exceeding the speed limit with a hacking automobile which he was driving. Woodus Kellum, Esq., appears for him.

DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO

Pitiful State in Which Mrs. May Found Herself, and How She Escaped

Opp, Ala.—In a letter from this town, Mrs. Carrie May writes as follows: "About two months after I married, I began to have very bad weak spells, and terrible headaches. I felt miserable all the time and soon got to where I couldn't hardly stay up. After the third month I got down completely.

"I was young, had never been sick before, and I just didn't know what to do. I thought I would die.

"My husband, at last, got me a bottle o fCardui, the woman's tonic, and it helped me so, he got another bottle. When I had taken the second bottle I was well.

"I wish that every woman suffering from womanly trouble, would give Cardui a trial. It is the best medicine on earth for womanly weakness."

Are you weak, tired, worn-out? Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women? If so, take Cardui.

As a remedy for women's ills, Cardui has been most successful. It is purely vegetable, composed of ingredients which have been found to build up the vitality and strengthen the womanly constitution, as well as prevent or relieve those terrible pains from which weak women suffer.

Cardui is worth trying. Judging from the experience of a million other women who have been benefitted by this remedy, it should surely do you good.

How to Absorb an Unlovely Complexion

(Phyllis Moore in Town Talk.)

The face which is admired for its beauty must have a satin-smooth skin, pink and white and youthful looking. The only thing I know of that can make such a complexion out of an aged, faded, or discolored one—I mean a natural, not a painted, complexion, is ordinary mercolized wax. This remarkable substance literally absorbs the unsightly cuticle, a little each day, the clear, healthy, girlish skin beneath gradually peeping out until within a week or so it is wholly in evidence. Of course such blemishes as freckles, moth patches, liver spots, blotches and pimples, are discarded with the old skin. If you will procure an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, use like cold cream every night, washing this off mornings, you'll find it a veritable wonder-worker.

Another valuable natural treatment is a wash lotion to remove wrinkles which can be easily prepared. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this and you'll find it "works like magic."

COTTON SHOWS BIG ADVANCE

Prices Advance on Advices That Cotton Tax Bill Will Not Become Effective Within Near Future.

New York, Sept. 8.—There was a big advance in cotton today, with active months, selling 3.15 per bale above the low level of Saturday on Washington advices indicating that even if the cotton tax bill became a law it would not be effective in time to interfere with market operations during the present season.

Rumors that the Senate would reconsider the amendment to the bill making it operative on September 1, 1914, and might yet pass it in a form that would render it effective immediately should it become a law, served to unsettle the market during the middle of the day, but these rumors were promptly denied, and the market reached its best level in the thading when prices were 52 to 54 points above Saturday's closing figures.

The close was a few points off from the best under realizing, but steady, and from 39 to 49 points net highter. The market seemed disposed to ignore almost everything in the nefs except the reports from Washington and it appeared from the action of prices, as well as from most the tak around the ring that the recent ow condition figures of the government had inspired much confidence in high priced cotton this season, providing there was no interference from legislation.

Higher Liverpool cables helped the initial advance of from 33 to 44 points, and after the strong opening prices reachted only 9 or 10 points from the best dring the middle of the day on the Washington rumors and repor s of well distributed rains in the Southwest. This reaction was quic ly recovered following more favorable news from Washington and the market was very firm in the late trading. The first ginning report of the season as issued by the census bureau showed 794,006 bales ginned to Sepetember 1, comparing 730,933 last year and 771,297 tow years ago.

REPORT SHOWS INCREASE.

Bureau Announces Greatest Quantity of Cotton Ever Ginned Prior to Sept. 1.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The greatest quantity of cotton ever ginned in the period prior to September 1, was reported by the Census Bureau today, when it was announced 794,006 bales of the growth of 1913 had been put out from the ginneries throughout the South since the beginning of the ginning season.

The heavy ginnings for this first period of the season are the result of an early maturing of the crop, and of an effort of the farmers to beat the boll weevil, in the opinion of census bureau officials.

All States reported an increased ginning for the period over last year's total for that time with the exception of Texas and North Carolina. Last year to September 1, there had been ginned 5.4 per cent. of the entire crop; in 1911 the quantity was 5 per cent.

This year's crop is computed with 730,935 bales lats year to September 1st; 771,297 bales in 1911, and 353,011 bales in 1910.

Round bales included in this report numbered 7,584, compared with 7,434 for last year.

Sea Island bales included 430, compared with 232 for last year.

New York, Sept. 8.—Cotton goods markets are very strong and prices are rising. Staple dress goods opened for Spring are ten per cent. below the Fall levels of values. Fancy goods have been cut to a still lower level. Raw silk is somewhat easier. Cotton yarns are firm with an upward tendency. Demand for goods continues very steady.

REMARKABLE REVIVAL HELD.

Dr. North's Service at Lasker, Northamption Circuit, Very Fruitful.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lasker, N. C., Sept. 8.—The remarkable revival services held here in the Methodist church from the 31st of August to September 5th proved a pleasing success. Dr. Wm. B. North, the pastor, preached twice daily and the oldest citizens have not seen larger congregations, heard better music or witnessed a more spiritual and successful meeting in the town of Lasker. Several parties at variance were reconciled, indifferent church members were reclaimed, six candidates for baptism received, and 12 persons united with the church. Others are expected and a Junior Epworth League will be organized.

One is almost overwhelmed by the tremendous unimportance that seems to attach to the views of Hon. Reed Smoot.—Chicago News.

STOCK TENDENCY DOWNWARD

Representatives Issues Show Decided Loss—Widest Movements Made Among The Specialties—Trading Dull.

New York, Sept. 8.—Representative Stock today lost ground slowly. Interest was diverted from standard shares to specialties and to the grain and cotton market. Recessions among such stocks as Union Pacific, Reading, New York Central, Atchison, St. Paul and Steel, which fell off a point or so chiefly were due to neglect.

The widest movements were among the specialties, particularly the petroleum and railway equipment shares, several of which advanced one to five points. Trading was dull and there was no weakness on the decline. Later the market stiffened recovering part of the losses.

Traders described the markets as a waiting one, referring to various forthcoming events of sufficient importance to restrict speculation. In this class are final action by the Senate on the tariff bill and publication tomorrow of the government's crop figures. The excited advance in cotton options tended to discourage buying of stocks.

The monthly report of the copper producers today elicited no response in the market. Even copper showed no improvement. Production ran ahead of consumption, and total stocqs on hand were reduced to the smallest reported in years.

Bonds moved rather irregularly, but showed a good undertone. Totol sales, par value, $1,400,000. A black of $100,000 government 2s sold at 98 1-2, an advance of 1-2. Panama 3s coupon advanced 1-4 on call. Total sales were 198,400 shares, including A. C. L. 100; C. & O. 700; Lehigh Valley 300; Southern Railway 900; Tennessee Copper 2,900; V. C. C. 300.

TOLD IN WILMINGTON

A Resident Known to All Our Readers Relates An Experience

Readers of the Star have been told again and again of the merits of that reliable, time-proved kidney remedy —Doan's Kidney Pills. The experiences told are not those of unknown persons, living far away. The cases are Wilmington cases, told by Wilmington people.

Mrs. W. W. Mintz, 712 Vollers St., Wilmington, N. C. "For a long time kidney trouble clung to me and I was caused great annoyance by the kidney secretions. My back ached and I did not seem able to get a minute's peace. Some days I was hardly able to move around to do my work. At last I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills from Bellamy's Drug Store, and they restored me to good health. I can still speak highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and recommend them as being good for kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

lature changing the name of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Co., to Atlantic Coast Line Railroad of North Carolina, and the powers desired to be obtained in this act. He insisted that all the Coast Line sought was power to buy up special connecting lines for linking the system the promoters had in mind and that there was no scheme to obtain power to monopolize the railroad business of North Carolina. He showed that the bill was passed ten days before the Legislature adjourned, instead of having been rushed through "in the very last days of the session," as indicated by questions by Mr. Brooks.

Was Violation of Sherman Law

The evidence of Mr. Walters is declared by those who have been pressing for the investigation to show both violation of the Sherman anti-trust act on the agreement of the Southern and the Atlantic Coast Line to absorb the competing line, and the violation of a special act of the North Carolina Legislature prohibiting dismemberment of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley. Also violation of a special order by Judge Simonton, of the Federal Court, that the sale should in no way bring about dismemberment of the road.

Following Mr. Walters' testimony, Michael Jenkins was called to the stand but he told the commission that he knew nothing personally about the transaction which had been engineered by Mr. Walters so far as the interests represented by Mr. Jenkins were concerned. He thought Mr. Walters' statement of the transaction was complete and accurate.

Hearing Postponed Until 22nd

The commission decided to suspend the investigation for the present and possibly take further testimony about September 22nd, before making report to the Governor and attorney general, the latter to examine the facts found by the commission and proceed with litigation for annulment of the sale if the findings justify it.

If this litigation is started and the sale is annulled there will be a new receiver for the railroad and the proceeds of the sale, he will make, will go to refund the purchase price and expenses of the Coast Line and Southern in their co-operative purchase and partition. The remainder, if any, would be distributed to the original stockholders in the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley, who lost all their stock through the former receivership. The State has half million of this old stock, Fayetteville and Cumberland have $200,000, and there are many large private stockholders.

Special Legislative Session

It is just two weeks from Wednesday until the General Assembly meets in extraordinary session in compliance with the call of Governor Craig to consider intra-State freight rate adjustment and to perfect amendments to the State Constitution for submission to the people for ratification.

And that the opening days of the session will be intensely strenuous is indicated by the call that has just been issued by President Fred N. Tate, of the Just Freight Rate Association, for the business men and farmers to gather here on the opening day of the Legislature, September 24th, for a monster mass meeting at which a complete bill of particulars as to freight rate adjustment shall be made out and laid before the Legislature in such manner as will impel the Legislature to use its utmost power for the relief of the wrongs enumerated.

President Tate says Governor Craig will be one of the speakers for this monster mass meeting at which Mr. Tate declares that he hopes to see the rank and file of the business men and farmers fully represented.

Expect Settlement Soon

In the meantime those in close touch with the progress of freight rate matters are expecting to see develope at any time further negotiations between the railroad officials, the Governor and the Corporation Commission looking to an agreement on a basis of settlement before the Legislature meets. President Finley, of the Southern, is just back from his European trip and negotiations have been tied up during the period of his absence. It is believed that the proposal recently made by the railroads as to reductions on rates from Western points, will be reconsidered together with reductions on freights from the East and the South, and also adjustments as far as they can be made by the North Carolina State carriers on the outbound freights where burdensome and unequal rates are shown. It is thought that the presidents of the inter-State railroads will be in Raleigh within a week, most probably, for a preliminary conference with the Governor and the Corporation Commission looking to such an adjustment of the rates.

thought and American purpose in trying to find some just way of preventing a Carnegie from taking down the American people approximately $500,000,000 of property, representing a taxing power against the American people based upon returns and earning of that $500,000,000."

The Norris amendment was beaten 57 to 12.

Many speeches of a general character were made during the day. Senator Chilton, of West Virginia, Democrat, attacked the Republicans for their alleged failure to satisfy the public demand for tariff revision, and declared the Democrats had been given the opportunity to frame the present measure because Republican revision had been repudiated.

Senator Brady, of Idaho, Republican, credited the Democrats with good faith in their efforts to prepare a fair tariff bill, but insisted the present measure would be a failure.

Senator Warren, of Wyoming, said the pending bill meant free trade as far as his State was concerned, and that "absolute free trade" was the ultimate end.

Senator Jones, of Washington, Republican, who also had offered an inheritance tax amendment, said he believed the country would soon recognize the justice of heavy taxes upon large inherited estates.

TWO LIBEL SUITS BEGUN.

In Connection With Governorship Fight Between Sulzer and Glynn.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 8.—As an incident in the fight over the governorship between William Sulzer and Martin H. Glynn, summonses in two libel suits, brought by the publishers of the Knickerbocker Press, were served today on James T. Glynn, vice-president of the Albany Evening Union Company, publishers of the Times-Union. Acting Governor Glynn, president of the company, was sout of the city.

tion that he had seen the defendant playing cards for money.

"Did you see him win any?" asked Jacobs on cross examination.

"I saw him take quick."

Jonathan Chesley, nearly 80 years old, with snow white hair and beard, was the last witness. He related the now familiar details of the "little game of draw" and when asked if he had seen Jerome win money said promptly, "yes sir."

"How much "

"Can't say," said the aged witness. He was not cross examined.

Summing up the prosecution pointed out that a Dominion law had been enacted to protect the public from card sharps on trains, steamships and other public conveyances, and that according to the evidence William Travers Jerome, late district attorney of New York, had violated this law. Though vague, he continued, "that statute undoubtedly applied to railroad yards and stations and he asked for a conviction.

Mr. Jacobs did not even sum up for the defense.

"To serve the court's time," he said, "we shall make no statement."

Magistrate Mulvena leaned back and pondered for not more than 50 seconds. "In rendering judgment," he said, "I shall be very brief. I believe every right minded man in Canada regrets and feels humiliated at the indignity which has been placed upon you. It is excusable neither in law nor in fact. The evidence adduced at this hearing gives no reasons for the charge which was laid against you, nor for the indignities which you have suffered.

"I believe sir, in all the circumstances you will not attribute the apparent offense offered you while in a friendly discharge of your duty as a public officer to the real thinking people in this community. You are, sir, honorably discharged."

Dead silence greeted the conclusion of the court's remarks. Then Jerome stood up.

"You may feel assured, your lordship," he said, "that I understand thoroughly the circumstances of this case. Since I have been in Canada I have been received with uniform courtesy in Sherbrooke, in Montreal and, I may say, in Coaticook by the thinking people. I am sure those who have been intemperate have been misled by ignorance of the facts rather than by any real malice.

"I shall always remember my visit to Canada with great pleasure. This case has been something of a humiliation for me, but I do not feel, I have been humiliated before the thoughtful people here."

There was subdued outbursts of cheering when Jerome sat down, but the cheers were drowned with hisses and cat calls. Magistrate Mulvena called for order and the crowd poured out upon the court house lawn. Mr. Jerome went immediately to the station and bought a ticket for Island Pond, Va., from where he will motor to New York.

Harry Thaw Pleased.

Harry Thaw, in the detention over the railway station, almost immediately heard the news of his old opponent's acquittal.

"That's good," he said, "it saves me $250." This remark referred to the fact that Thaw had offered to make good any loss sustained by Andrerousseau, a local hotel keeper, and one of the two sureties on Jerome's $500 bond.

It had not been decided tonight when Thaw would be removed to Montreal.

Plans of Thaw's Counsel.

Montreal, Sept. 8.—According to J. N. Greenshields, of Thaw counsel, one of the main hopes of the defense in the Thaw deportation proceedings, aside from the fight against the immigration act itself, is an alleged irregularity in the proceedings taken by the immigration officers. It is contended they did not have a formal order from the minister of justice to take Thaw in charge, which the defense claims is necessary under the act when the alien affected has been in the country ten days.

Thaw had been in the country over 15 days when he was surrendered to the immigration officials, and T. R. E. McInnis, K. C., has made an affidavit that the immigration men took Thaw in charge without proper authority.

He states that before the board of inquiry has demanded that E. Blake Robertson, assistant superintendent of immigration, produce this document and that the latter declined to do so.

The second reason cited to Judges Gervais and Cross in the informal application made by Thaw's counsel before the matter was brought into chambers Friday, was the unconstitutionality of the act.

The third point was the alleged misuse of the act to supplement and aid the enforcement of law and order in New York State.

dom are better now than they have "Thaw's chances of ultimate freebeen at any time since he was first arrested on a charge of murder" summed up Mr. Greenshields. "The immigration act is full of holes. It is a positive disgrace to Canada."

"If the judges of the court of the King's bench proved willing, the hearing of Thaw's appeal against the immigration act, it may prove to be unique in the appearance as spokesman before the court of an American lawyer, William Travers Jerome.

When formal application was made for the writ of habeas corpus directed to the immigration officers last Friday, N. K. LaFlamme had a lengthy private conversation with Judges Gervais and Cross, and made a special request that if the case came before the courts William Travers Jerome should be allowed to speak.

Although American lawyers have no right to speak in a Canadian court, Mr. LaFlamme considered that under the circumstances this courtesy might be extended to Mr. Jerome.

It is worthy of note in this connection that some 25 years ago J. N. Greenshields, K. C., of Thaw's counsel, was engaged in a famous forgery case is New York. At that time, although he was the chief counsel for tre defense, he was permitted to take no part in the court proceedings. By way of returning good for evil, Mr. Greensrields has added his request to that of Mr. LaFladme, that Mr. Jeroue be permitted personally to handle New York's interests before the court.

A New England Senator advocating lower tariff duties, simply goes to prove that anything may happen. —Washington Herald.

A. C. L. MAY ENTER PAMLICO.

Storm May Have Effect of Extending A. C. L. Line From Newbern.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., Sept. 8.—One of the greatest blows that the storm gave Newbern was the destruction of the county bridge between this city and Bridgeton. This structure was was one and a quarter miles in length was constructed in 1897 at a cost of $25,000 dollars and was the sole means of entrance by conveyance from the eastern part of this and Pamlico counties. On the day following the storm a ferry line was put in operation and this is now doing service.

While the destruction of this bridge is a great loss to Newbern the disaster may prove profitable to Bridgeton. The county commissioners have been in consultation and have about come to the conclusion to erect a steel and concrete bridge in the place of the one destroyed and to make it large enough to allow street cars and railway trains to pass over it.

The Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company has long desired to enter Pamlico county and the surrounding section in competition with the Norfolk Southern Company, and this will probably be just the opportunity that they have been awaiting, not having cared to construct a bridge across the river at so great an expense. One thing is certain, another bridge will be erected at an early date and at the next meeting of the board of commissioners the matter will probably be definitely decided upon.

Among the heavy losers from the storm was the East Carolina Lumber Company, located just across Trent river from Newbern. The company's plant is located as a point along side of the river and it received the full benefit of the wind and water. Several hundred thousand feet of timber was swept and the mill itself was badly damaged. The John L. Roger Lumber Company, located further up Neuse river, was not so badly damaged, but the company lost two tugs were anchored nearby and which were sunk.

Reports of the damage done at different points around and in the city continue to come into the newspaper offices and with each the total amount of damage continues to increase. First estimates placed the amount at two hundred thousand dollars. This soon doubled and then it was certain that the damage would amount to half a million dollars. Now it is almost a certainty that the amount of damage damage in and around the city will reach the six hundred thousand dollar mark.

Craven county's new Farm Life School, the first and only one of its kind in the State, will not be opened for the fall term on September 23rd, as had at first been planned. For several weeks the contractors have been rushing the work of construction along just as rapidly as possible but there have been numerous delays on account of inclement weather and the inability of the lumber dealers to deliver the material on scheduled time and Dr. J. E. Turlington, the principal of the new institution, has announced that it will be some time in October before the school will be opened. A large number of pupils have already been enrolled and it is expected that other will be secured before the beginning of the term. Plans for the erection of the new central school in Number Seven Township have been placed in the hands of the contractor and work on this structure will begin at once. This school will be located at Thurman and will be the central school in that township, the pupils being carried to and from the school each day in large wagons which will be constructed especially for this purpose.

DUPLIN BOY IN TROUBLE.

Charged With Cashing Tobacco Warehouse Paper and Is in Jail.

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 8.—Peter Carter, 20 years old, is in the Lenoir county jail charged with the nervy theft of $117.80. That was the amount paid for a pile of tobacco on the floor at the Central warehouse, at Heritage and North streets, and in the rush attendant upon one of the heaviest sales of the season there Carter, idling about the floor with the throngs watching the auctions, secured the bill for the pile from an unsuspecting boy, went to the check clerk and drew an order for the amount called for by the bill.

Twenty minutes later E. W. Eubanks of Trenton, N. C., who had put the tobacco on sale, called at the office for payment. Explanations were in order, and fortunately the check clerk remembered the man who had already drawn the check, a remarkable thing in the confusion of paying hundreds of sums. He telephoned to the First National Bank. Carter had just been there to have the order cashed. A clerk was sent out with his description and located him less than half a block away. The youth was taken into custody and when searched all of the money, the bill and several dollars in addition were found on his person. Taken before a magistrate, sufficient evidence of his guilt was found to hold him for superior court and he could not give the $200 bond required. He denied the charge even when the bill was produced. Carter is a native of Duplin county near Pink Hill, and it is said bears an unsavory reputation.

W. C. Knox, a young veterinarian, had a miracious escape from death at a bridge over a small branch about two and a half miles from the city on the Snow Hill road, when an automobile which he was driving left the bridge and turned turtle, pinning him under the machine. Passers by assisted him and found that he had been thrown the windshield and was cut about the thigh and back brussed in places on his body, but was not seriously hurt. Knox had been called to the country to treat a sick animal, and was retrning at an ordinary rate of speed when the car struck a hole in the bridge and turned completely over. The machine was very slightly damaged and the engine continued to run upside down.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC—We have been receiving requests for some time that we handle "Rough Dry," the same as the laundries in the larger cities; that is, wash, starch and dry the clothes, returning them ready to be ironed. Desiring to meet the demands of our customers, we some time ago agreed to handle a few bundles. We found that we could not handle same successfully, unless we were equipped with special machinery for that purpose. We decided, therefore, to install the special machinery. We now have same ready for use, and beg that you come and inspect the same. We will be ready for your bundle early Monday morning. Do not forget that we make a specialty of washing blankets. BITS OF HISTORY

NEW STYLE TIME

The New Style Calendar was adopted by England and her Colonies in 1752. The change made September 3rd become September 14th, and the eleven days intervening remain lost for all time. The loss of those days injured no one as each person lost the same eleven days and no business was recorded between the dates mentioned.

But about the days that are lost from time to time by each of us. Those persons who have never had a Bank Account have lost a great many days, during which a little surplus might have been growing. Lose no more days, but start now.

On what you save this Bank allows 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly.
